School Board seeks first-rate school system

Providing educational leadership in Terrebonne Parish is the task of the Terrebonne Parish school board, a group of conscientious, hard-working individuals who are determined to make the parish school system one of the best in the state. Examples of their interest and foresight are the numerous new buildings, and the modern up-to-date equipment contained in them. In addition to providing excellent facilities, the board has constantly sought to staff the parish schools with the best teachers available.

Examining entries in the STHS Art Show are Mr. Landry, Superintendent Henry Breaux, and Mr. Clarence Himel.

This year the Terrebonne Parish School Board took part in numerous activities at STHS. Above, board members and Mr. Landry, South Terrebonne Principal, are shown at a banquet which concluded a meeting of the District Principals Association. The Terrebonne School hosted more than 250 principals from seven parishes at the meeting held at STHS. At left, Mr. Cecil Bordelon, co-ordinator of instruction, confers with Mrs. Susan Dronet, South Terrebonne commerce teacher. The Art Show and graduation exercises were also occasions for visits to South Terrebonne by the Superintendent and School Board members. Shown below are members of the 1968-69 Board.

Below, Mr. Charles Badeau, school board president, welcomes the principals of the district to Terrebonne Parish.

School leaders accept challenge of new duties

During their first year at STHS, Principal Daniel Landry and Vice-principal Ben Arsena were active in all phases of school life. Working as a team, they participated tirelessly in the wide range of formal and informal functions that are always a part of the yearly agenda.

Mr. Landry, at left, welcomes visiting administrators from Terrebonne and surrounding parishes to the meeting of the District Principals' Association hosted by South Terrebonne and the parish school board. Above, both STHS principals take part in the annual Carnival tableau by escorting the proud mothers of the king and queen to the stage.

Effective use of modern techniques and

Periodic departmental meetings, such as the home economics conference at right, resulted in more up-to-date classes at STHS. Demonstrations and lectures by professional people in the community, filmstrips to re-inforce textbook material, and handicraft projects created much interest. Below, a Sears representative talks with a class about modeling.

In addition to conferences held within their departments, faculty members frequently exchanged ideas or discussed their problems with those in other areas of specialization. In this way teachers were able to vary their methods of instruction and to develop new ideas.

Mathematics, science teachers provide basic skills, information

Mathematics and science teachers at South Terrebonne strive to provide each student with a solid foundation. Through the use of demonstrations, films, and experiments, they prepare students for more advanced courses. At the same time they teach students how to cope with everyday problems which require an understanding of scientific or mathematical principals.

P.E. program stresses body development

In the STHS Physical Education Department, teachers emphasize the importance of physical fitness for the leading of a complete and wholesome life. They also provide students with a background in the organization and rules of games and other leisure-time activities. In addition, all P.E. instructors teach health and first aid.

Services used by both faculty members and students are furnished by the Guidance Department and the school library.

To students, guidance counselors offer counseling, orientation, individual inventory, placement, and follow-up services. The department keeps extensive records and other information which assist teachers in individualizing their instruction.

The STHS library, one of the school's most vital facilities, is a research and recreation center for teachers and students alike.

Staff keeps school operating smoothly

Essential to the efficient operation of South Terrebonne are the members of the non-teaching staff—the secretaries, cafeteria workers, and maintenance personnel —who strive to make school life easier and more pleasant. They work to keep the building clean and the equipment functioning properly. They also provide countless services vital to the well-being of students and faculty.

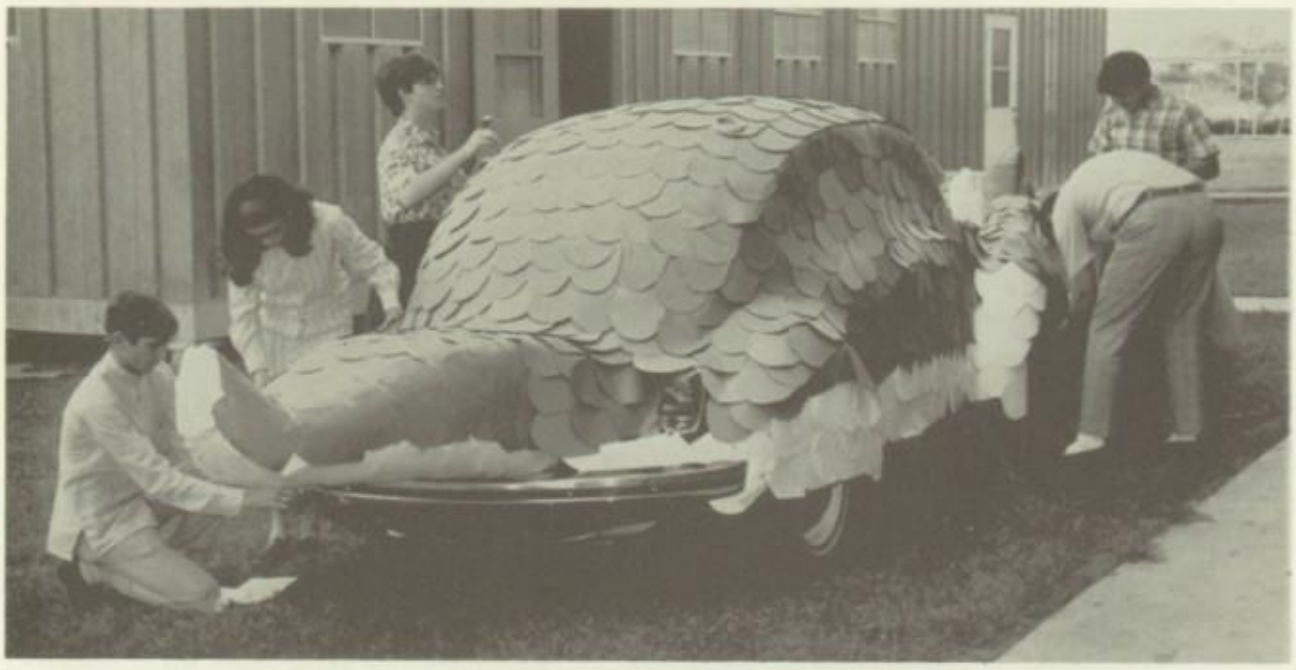
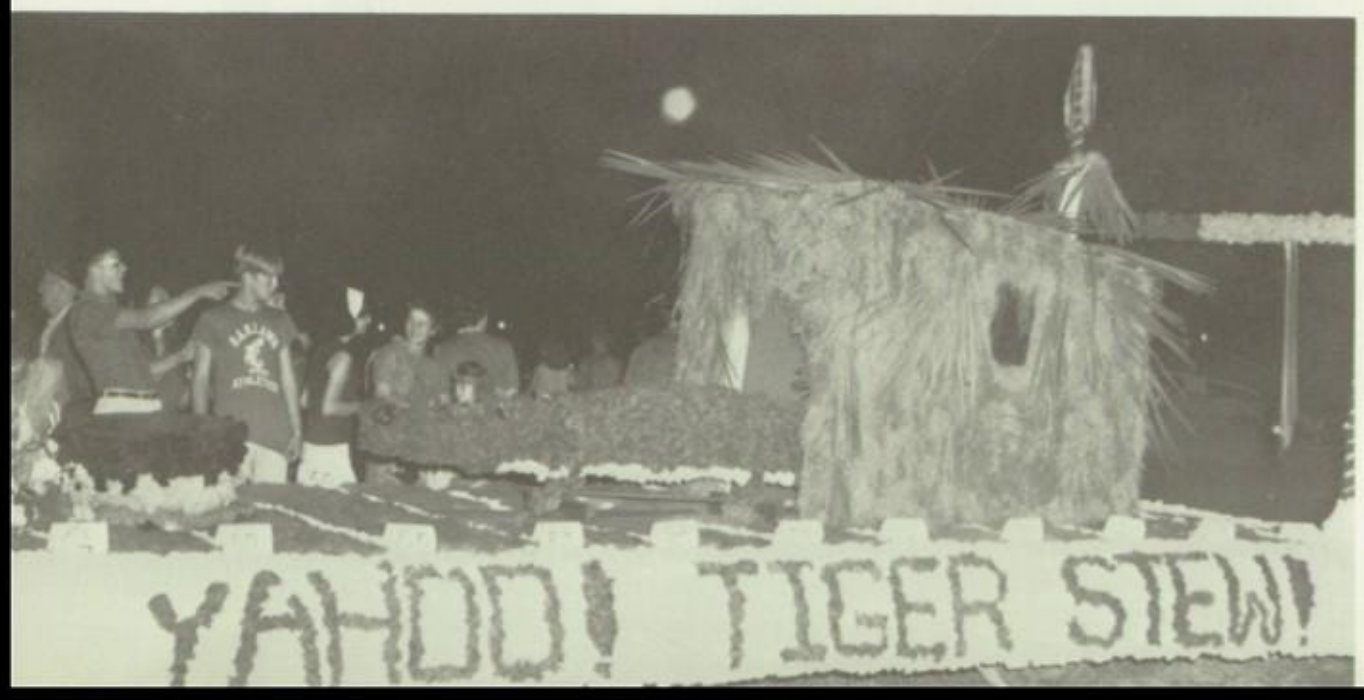
Homecoming preparations reach critical stage



High Gator spirit prevails at STHS Homecoming

After weeks of preparation, students staged a successful Homecoming parade, bonfire, and dance. Only the football game went wrong. Thibodaux won the contest, 26-13. Classes and clubs joined forces to make the Homecoming parade a memorable event.

Winners of the class float competition were the Juniors; the Art Club won first place in club competition. After the parade, students gathered around the bonfire as it was being lit by the cheerleaders. As the flames flared up, the winning floats were announced and the court introduced. Before the game, the maids were escorted onto the field by their fathers or brothers. At halftime, Faye Ledet was crowned queen by Mr. Landry.



Dance climaxes eventful Homecoming

The 1969 Homecoming dance was held in the South Terrebonne gym with the theme, "Oriental Fantasy." The gym was decorated by Student Council members. The Kandy Shoppe supplied music correlated with films shown on the wall.

During the dance, the Homecoming Court was presented and Faye Ledet and Ronnie Boudreaux were crowned. Faye was also presented a bouquet of red roses by Mr. Landry. Claudette Bergeron was presented a loving cup by Mr. Whipple for her contributions to the Student Council.

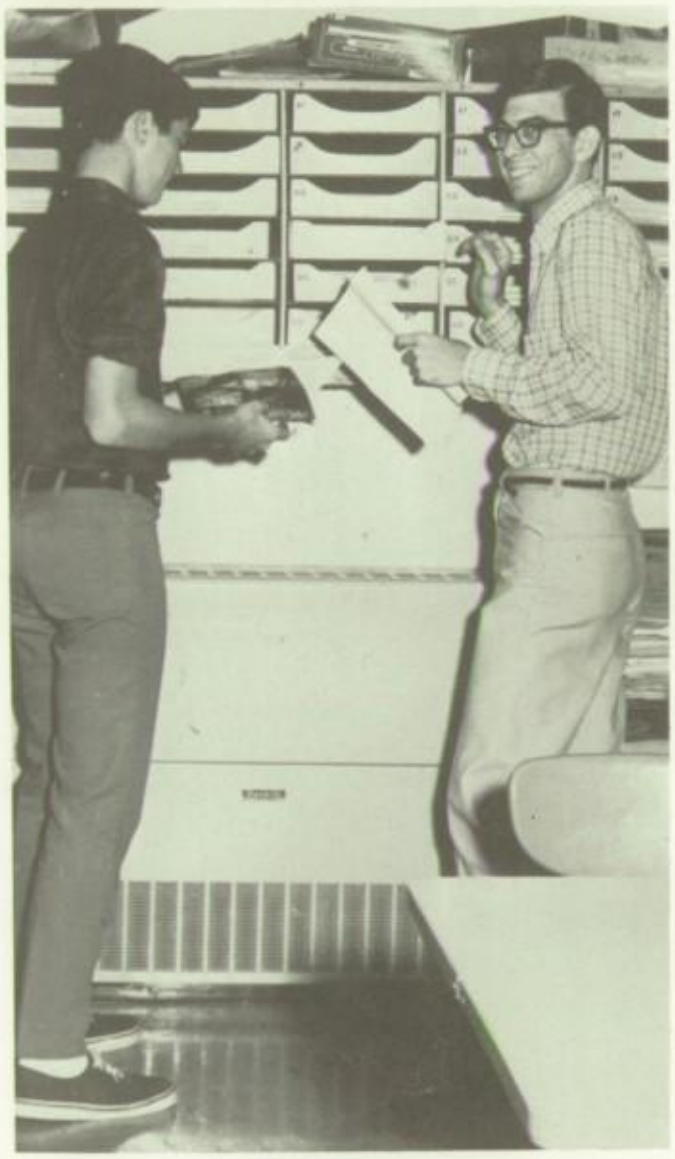
Yearbook requires long hours of hard work

Publishing a yearbook is hard work. Pictures must be taken, pages planned, and copy written.

There are also such tasks as billing advertizers, selling yearbooks, and keeping extensive records. No wonder it takes so long.

Photography work determines quality, success of annual



Because pictures constitute the backbone of any yearbook, the work of the photographers is vital to the book's success. Obtaining of quality prints requires not only the careful planning and taking of pictures but also conscientious, efficient work in the darkroom.

Before an edition is ready for distribution, staff members must write stories, type dummies, set headlines, and prepare layouts.

Journalism students

Gator Tales, STHS newspaper, was published twice each month by students under the direction of Mrs. Joller. They spent countless hours tracking down and recording all school activities.

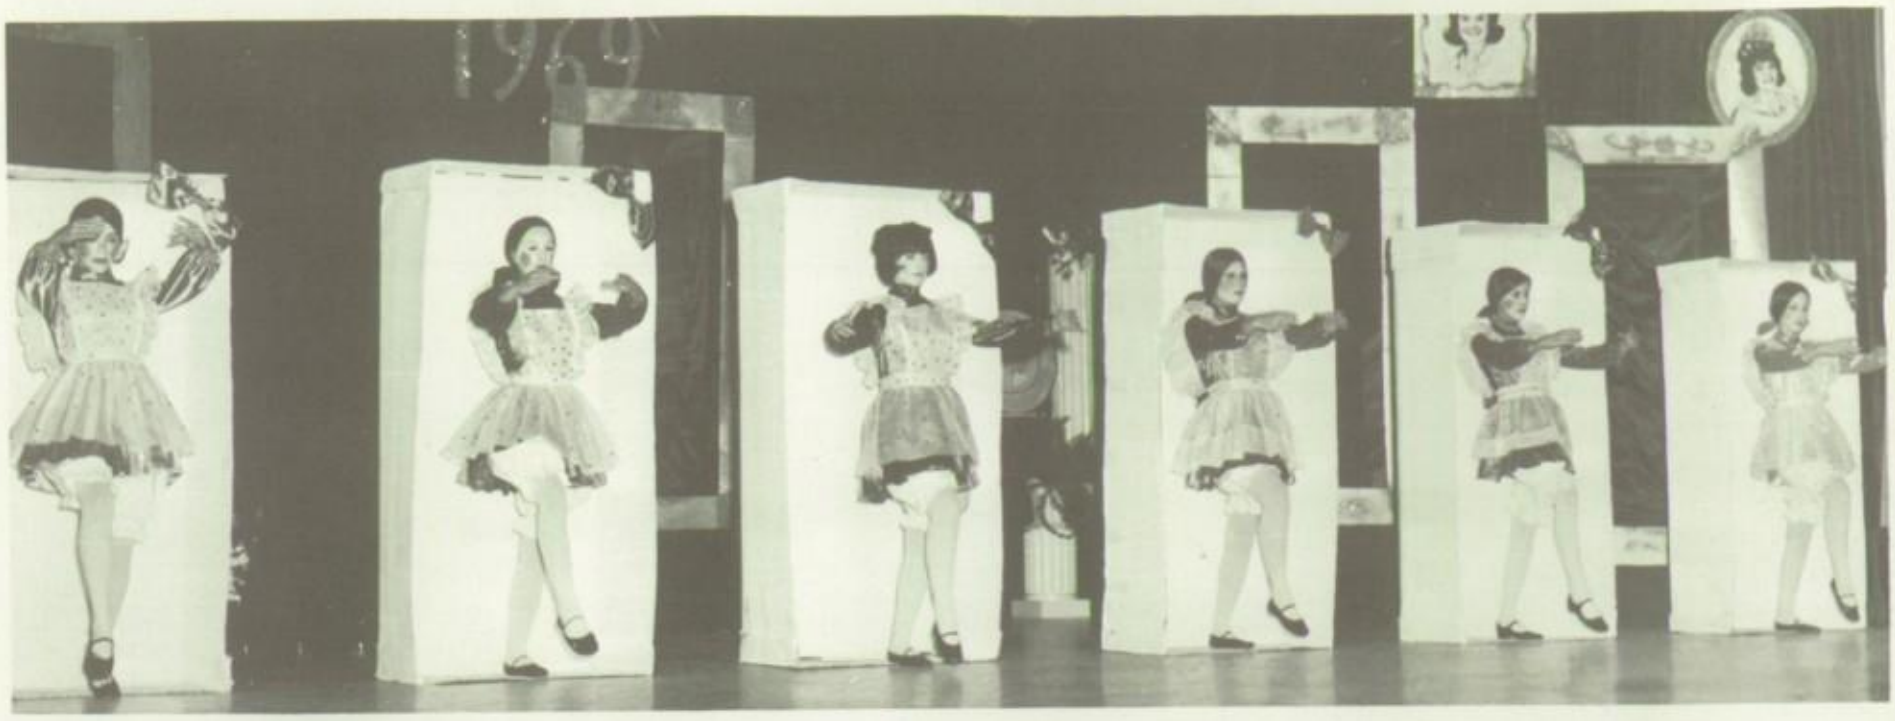
work long hours to issue bi-monthly publication

Before a staff was organized or a paper actually produced, journalism students were given formal instruction in the writing skills and techniques necessary for publishing a newspaper. Some of their assignments included preparing questions for interviews, learning duties of various editors and staff members, and writing news stories, editorials, and features.

After two weeks of hard work, the staff is rewarded when they distribute Gator Tales to homeroom subscribers (left). At this same time, several reporters (above) relax while waiting to sell extra copies.

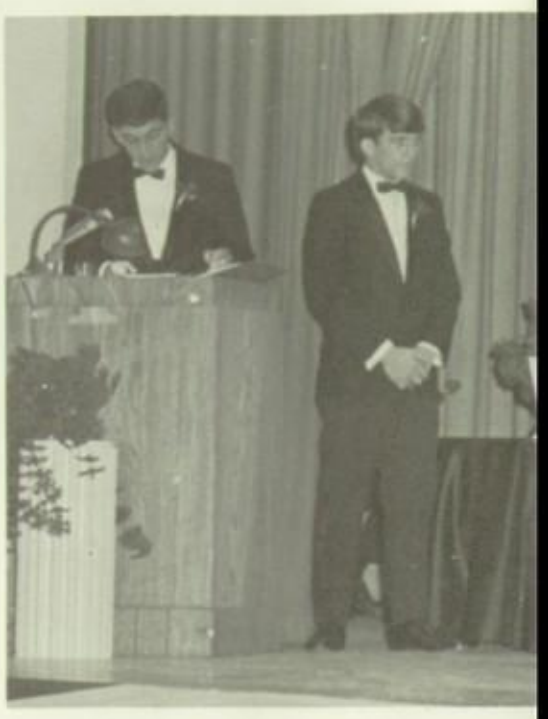


Pageant contestants began their quest for the Sweetheart crown by answering questions of the judges during interviews conducted in the cafeteria. Later, in the auditorium, they were escorted to the center of the stage and individually introduced to the audience.

Junior, Senior girls vie for title at annual Sweetheart pageant

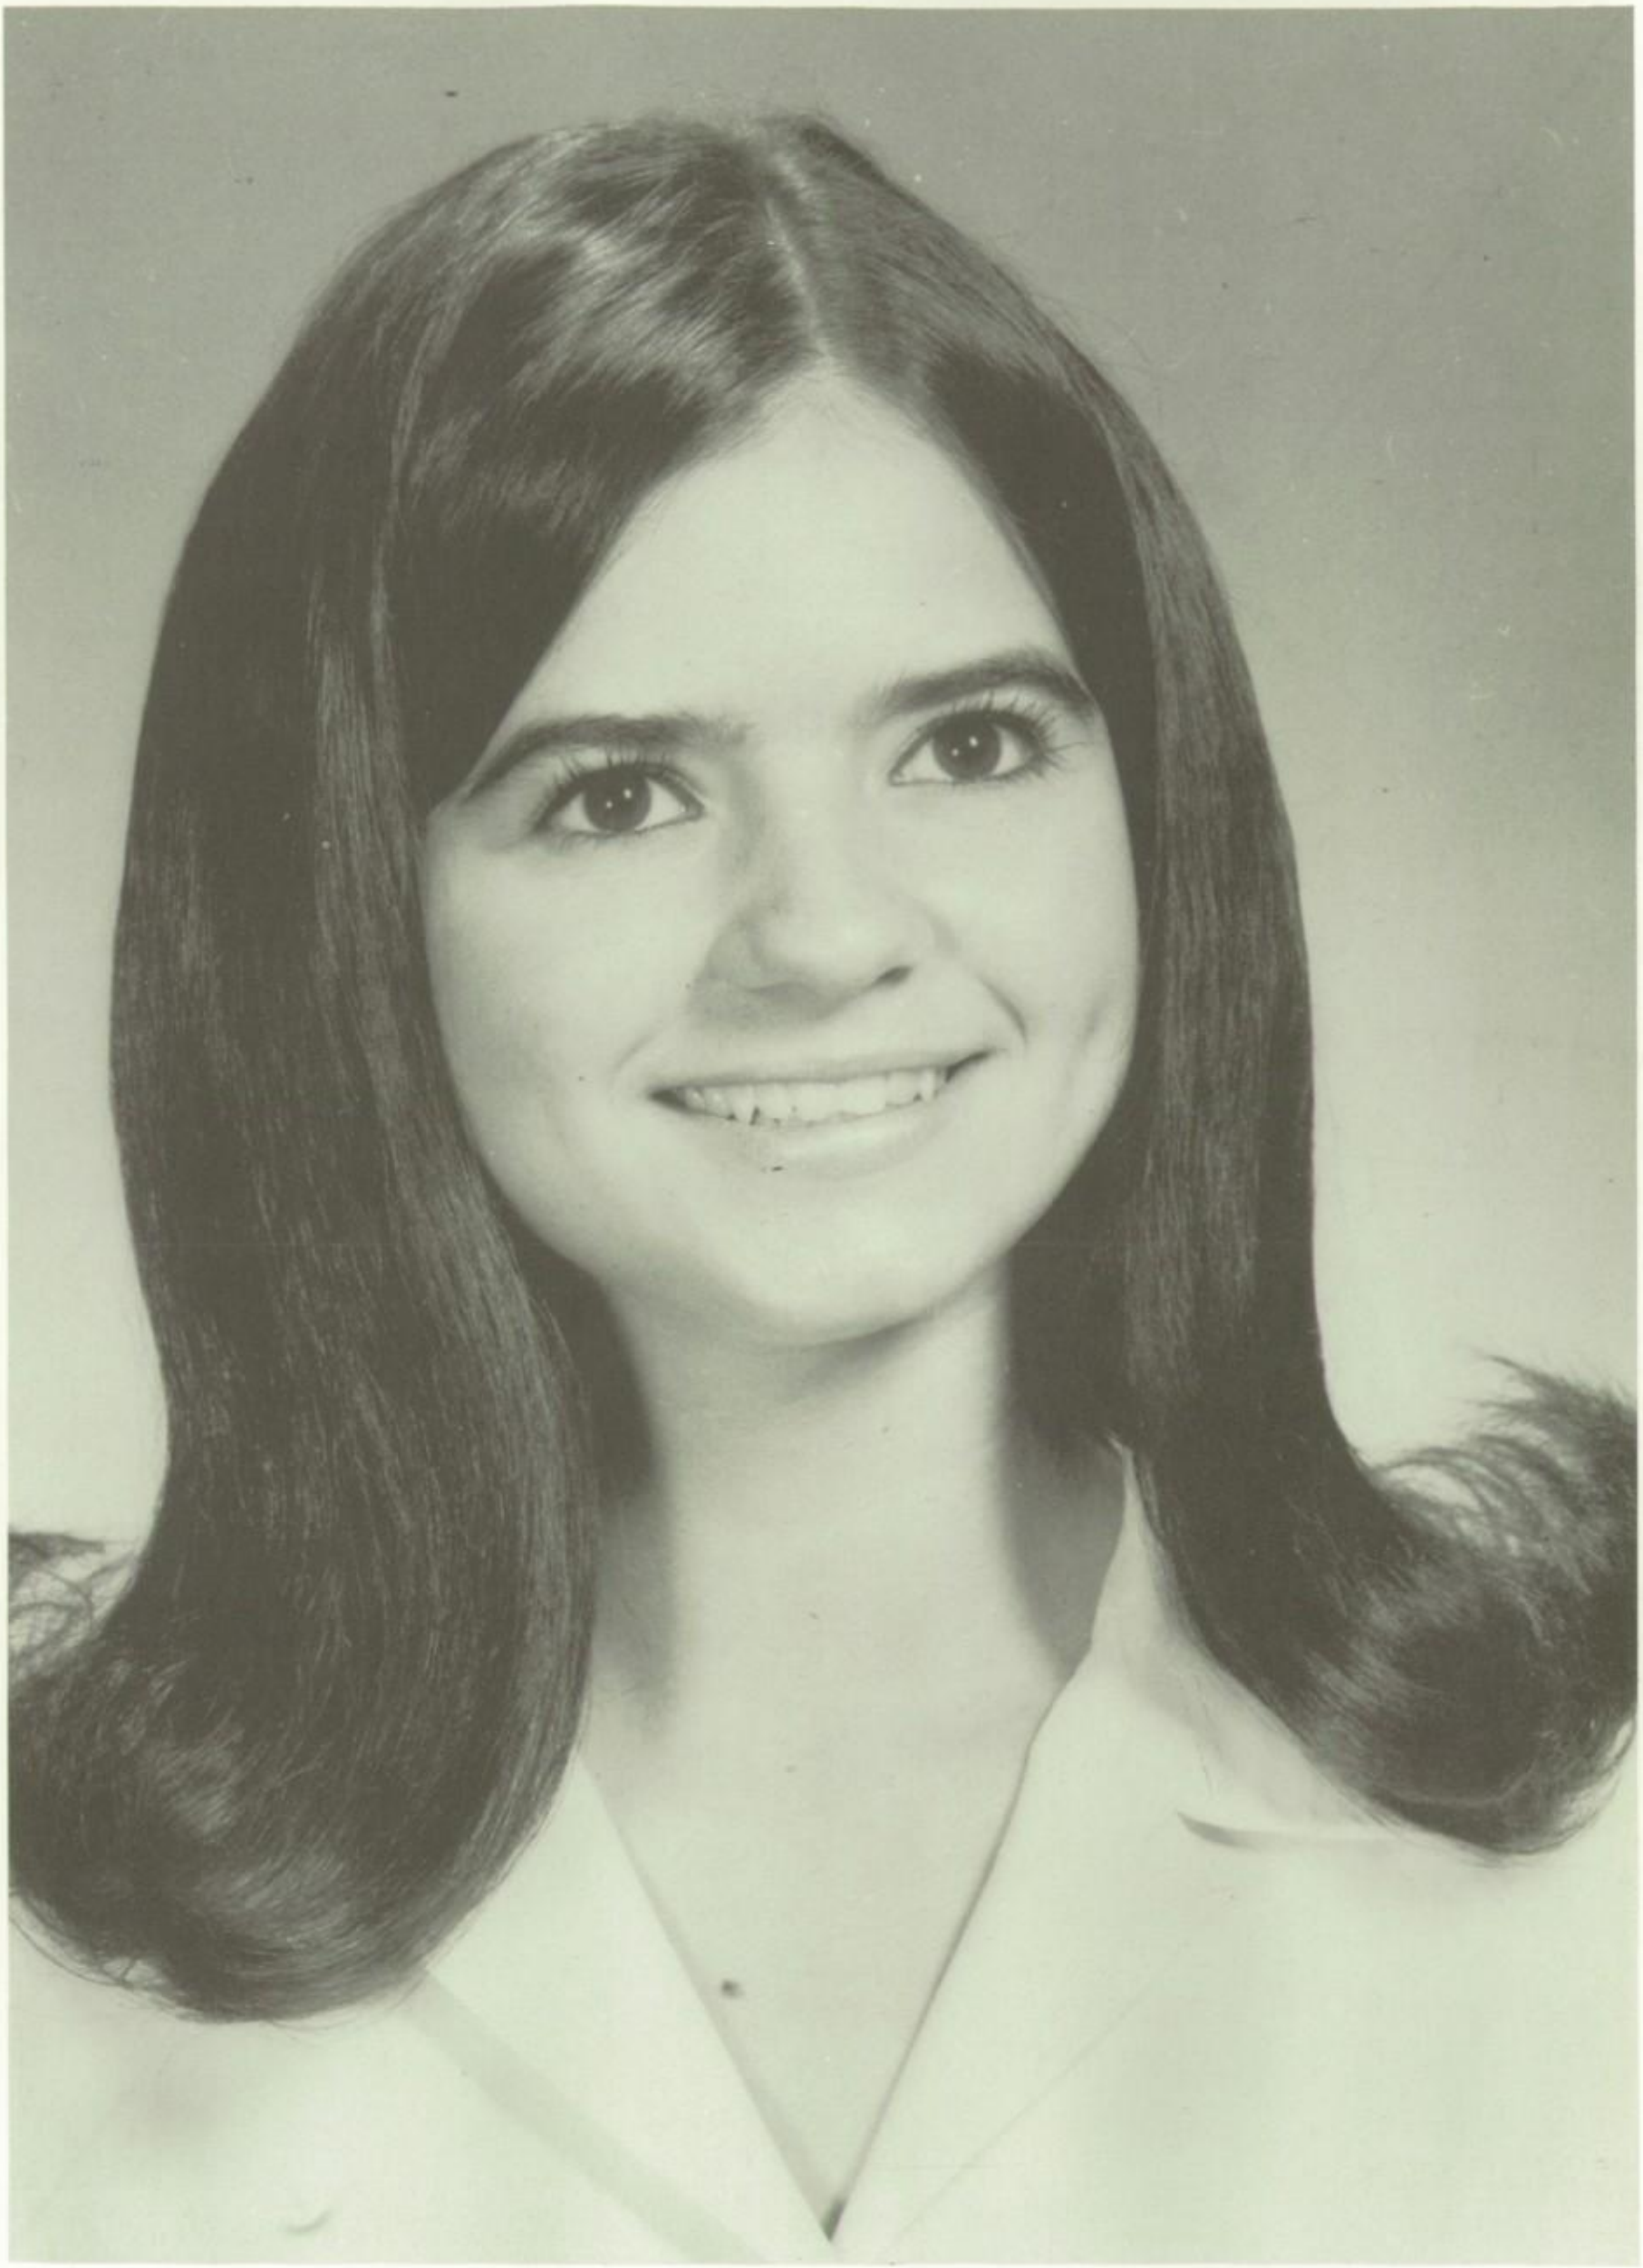
In the eighth annual pageant, twenty girls, ten Juniors and ten Seniors, competed for the honor of being chosen Sweetheart of South Terrebonne. Theme of the event was "Portraits Rare and Beautiful." In keeping with this theme, the stage was decorated with portraits of former queens placed above six antique shadow boxes. Fern and white columns added to the effectiveness of the stage setting. Each contestant entered through a curtained shadow box in the center of the stage. The portraits used were prepared by Mr. Hamlin, STHS art teacher.

Judges



During the pageant, five semi-finalists, four Juniors and one Senior, were chosen, and each was asked a serious and a light question. From this group, Senior Faye Ledet was named Sweetheart. The four Juniors named to the court are Paula Fugat, first maid; Cathy Carrere, second maid; Cheryl Hebert, third maid; and Courtney Roberts, fourth maid. Della Roberts, 1968 Sweetheart, crowned Faye following the presentation of her court.

select Faye Ledet to be Sweetheart



Becoming Sweetheart climaxes exciting year

Faye Ledet, 1969 Sweetheart, saved her best year until last.

Her eventful Senior year began last summer when she attended cheerleader camp at Northwestern State College and helped the STHS yell squad bring home an impressive collection of awards. Later she attended Pelican State at LSU.

After school opened, Faye was elected Homecoming queen and secretary of the Senior Class. Later she was also chosen a maid in the Carnival court and a leader from South Terrebonne for the local NCCJ Youth Seminar.

Throughout the year, she maintained her high average and was active in the National Honor Society.

Paula Fugatt

First Maid

First maid Paula Fugatt is a blue-eyed, blonde-haired Junior who stands five-feet six-inches tall.

Paula plans to further her modeling career after graduation. She is at present a member of the Carnival Club and was Make-Up Chairman for the Drama Club play, "The Perfect Idiot."

Paula collects stuffed animals as a hobby.

Cheryl Hebert

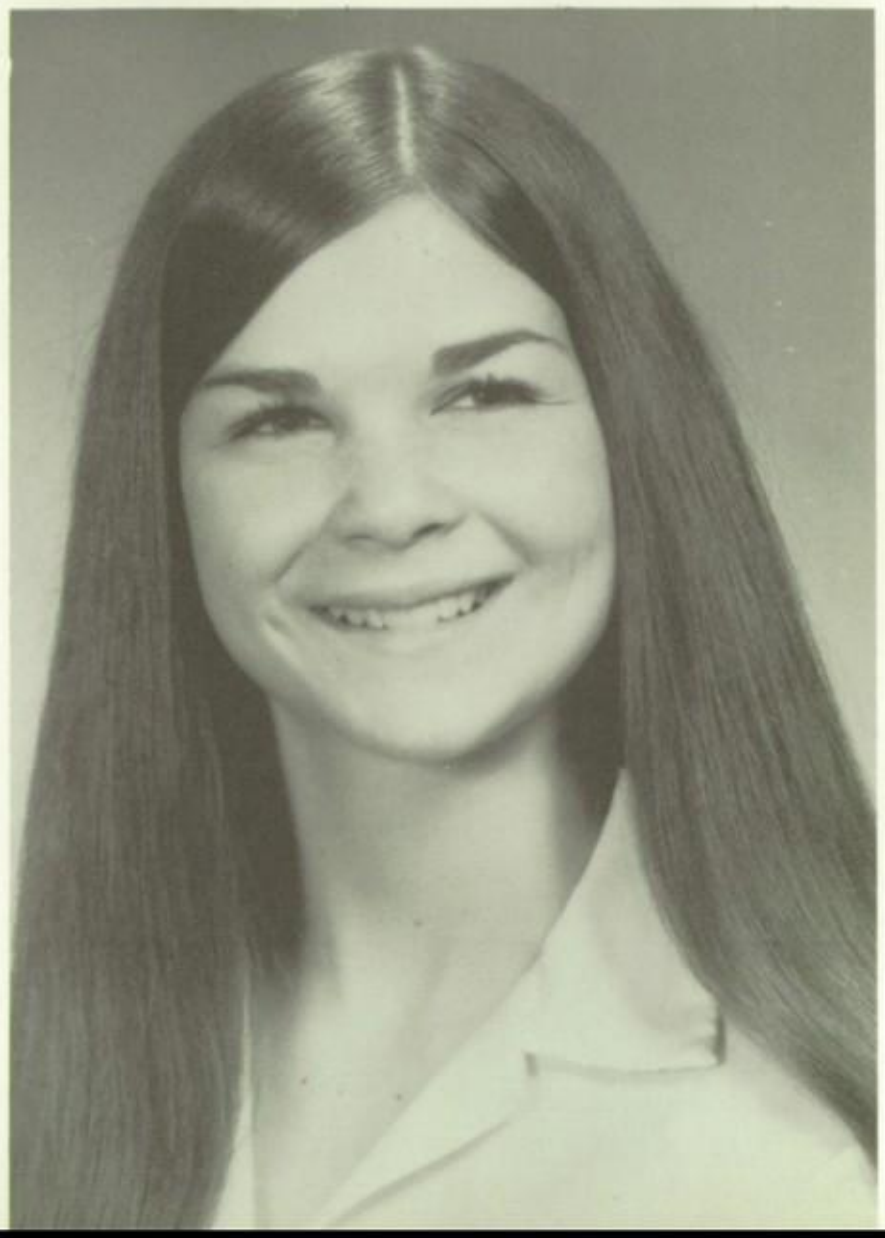
Third Maid

Cheryl Hebert is a junior who has served as head majorette of the STHS band for two years.

Cheryl is secretary of the Museum Club and is a newly-tapped member of the National Honor Society.

Cheryl, who is five-feet one and one-half inches tall, has green eyes and brown hair. She was a maid on this year's Carnival Court and was chosen to attend Louisiana Girls State this summer.

Cheryl plans to marry and to attend college.



Cathy Carrere

Second Maid

Cathy Carrere, a five-foot three-inch Junior, has been a member of the band for seven years. She has blonde hair and blue eyes.

Listing swimming and working jigsaw puzzles as hobbies, Cathy is an active member of the Paramedics and Band clubs. Cathy plans to get married and to attend Nicholls State College after graduation.

Courtney Roberts

Fourth Maid

Courtney Robers is a five-foot five and one-half inch tall Junior with blonde hair and green eyes.

A four-year Student Council member, Courtney has attended the state LASC Workshop for the past two years. This year she is copy editor for Gator Tales, a National Honor Society inductee, and a Gatorette. She was also chosen to represent STHS at Louisiana Girls State during the summer.

Courtney plans to attend college and major in English.

Cheerleaders win "spirit stick," trophy at camp

After winning honors at summer camp, STHS cheerleaders continued to work hard and to display boundless enthusiasm as they cheered Gator teams to victory.

STHS cheerleaders were present at all athletic contests, trying to mold Gator spirit into an effective force. This hard-working crew consisted of Claudette Bergeron, Cindy Pitre, Faye Ledet, Suzette Hebert, Tillie Foret, Linda Mazerac, Connie Toups, and Cindy Belanger.

ST band performs at numerous events

Throughout the year, the Gator band followed a rigorous schedule. In the fall, there were halftime shows for football games, both at home and away. Later, there were numerous festivals to attend. In addition, the band entertained audiences at STHS with several concerts.

Big crowd gathers for presentation of Carnival Club's "La Bal Masque"

"La Bal Masque" was the theme of this year's Carnival tableau. King Ronnie Boudreaux and Queen Claudette Bergeron reigned over the annual production of the Krewe of Emeralds.

Maids and dukes were: Cindy Pitre, Ronnie Rhodes, Marna Theriot, Doug Bartley, Faye Ledet, Glen Pellegrin, Tillie Foret, Lew Rivette, Salome Hebert, Blaine Vedros, Cheryl Hebert, Depp Cheramie, Suzette Hebert, John Bascle, Linda Mazerac, and Steve LaRussa. Captain of the ball was Jules Boquet; Billy King was narrator.

Entertainment was in the form of Mardi Gras dances. All participants in the tableau, including court members, wore masks.

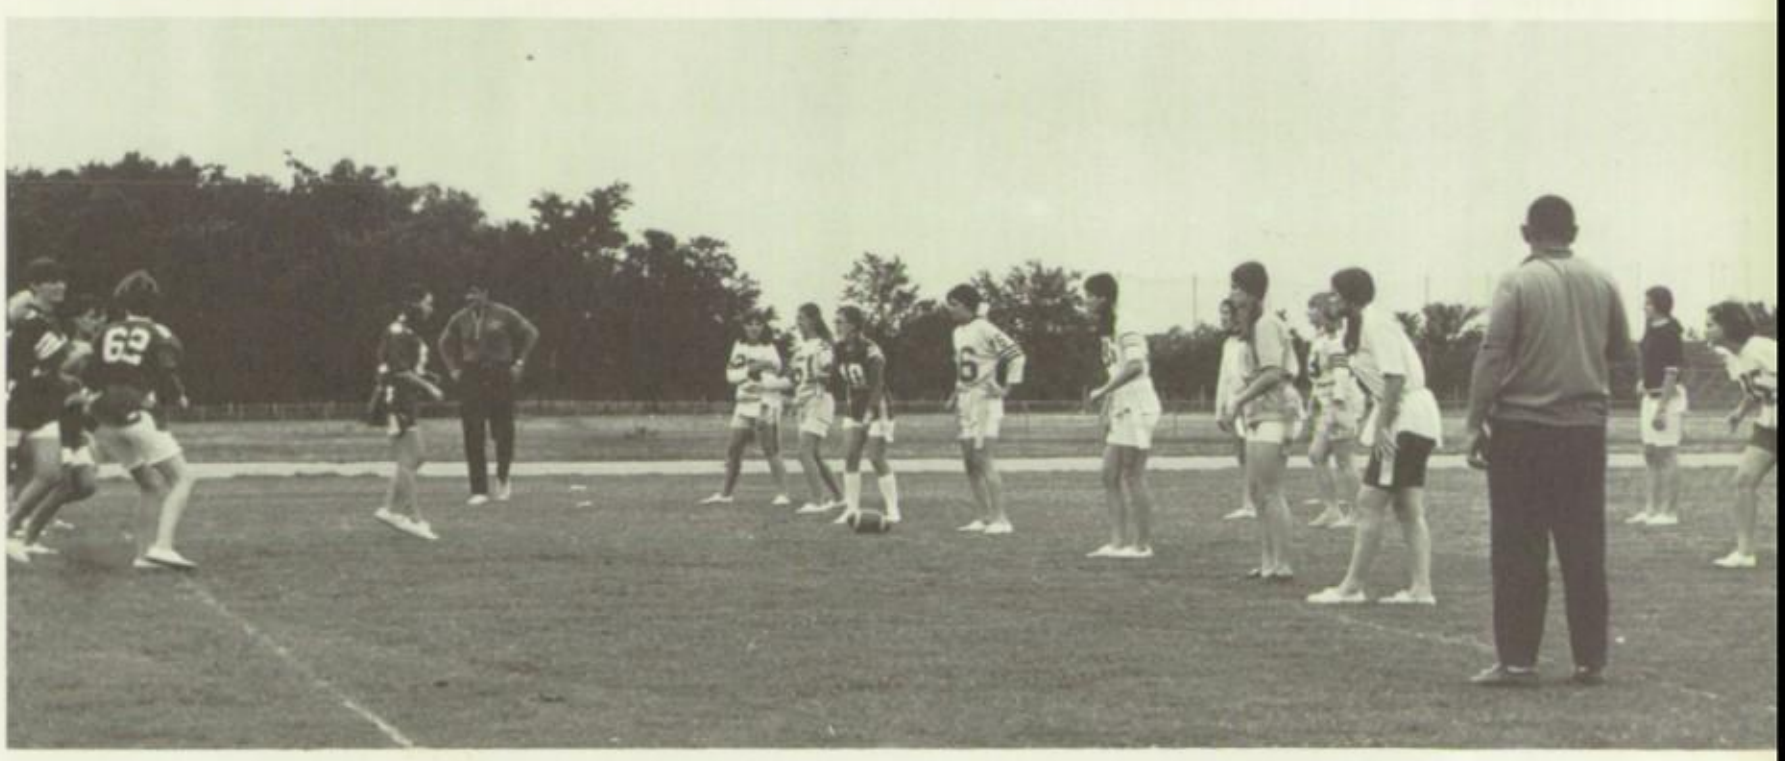
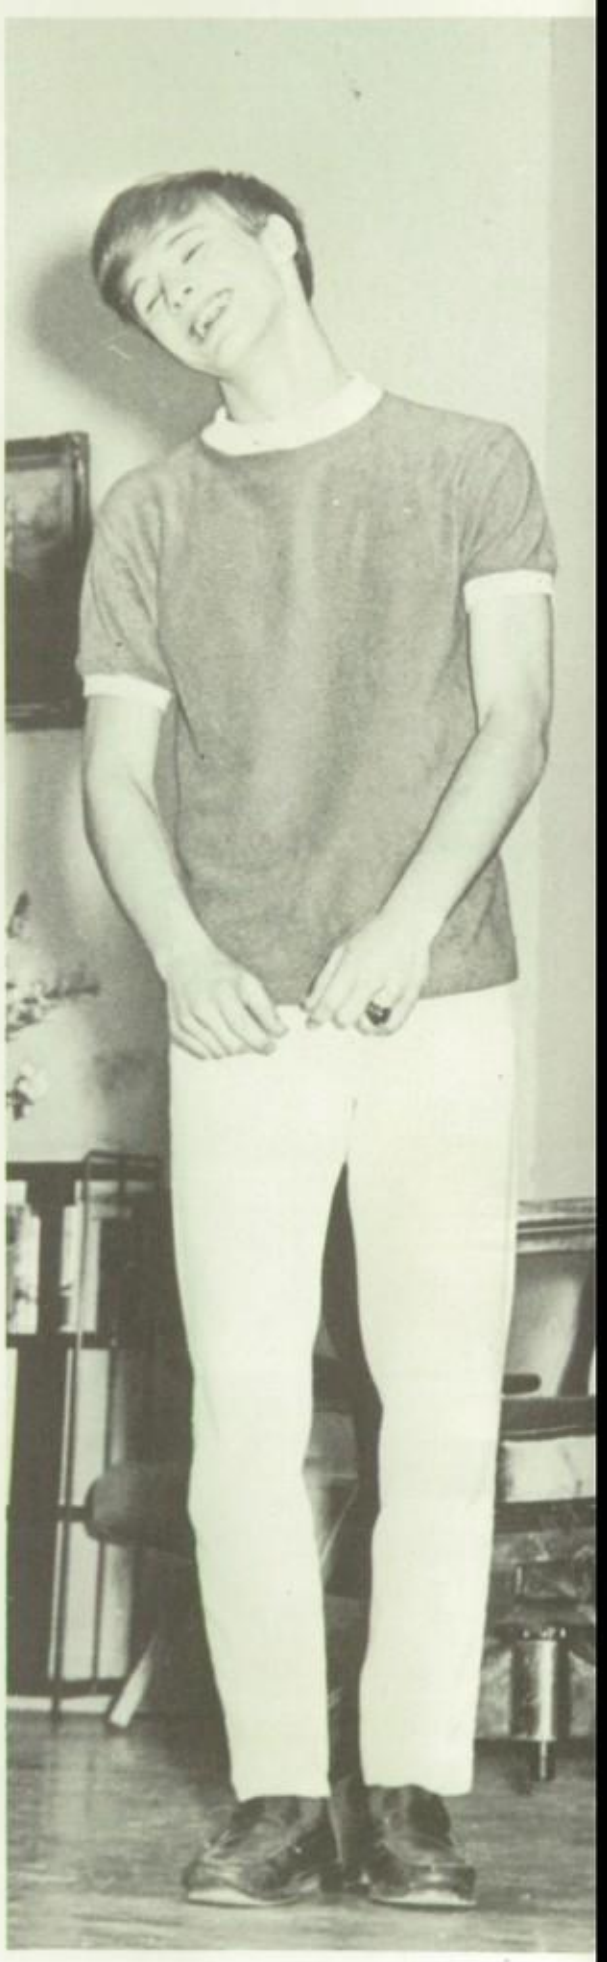
Juniors outscore Seniors in girls' annual grid battle

In an annual battle, the Senior girls opposed the Juniors in ST's Powder Puff Bowl. The Juniors proved to be a little better at touch football than their upper-classmen, scoring a 7-6 victory. Boys from each class dressed as cheerleaders, leading yells and performing antics that were highly amusing to the spectators.



Drama Club scores with "Perfect Idiot"

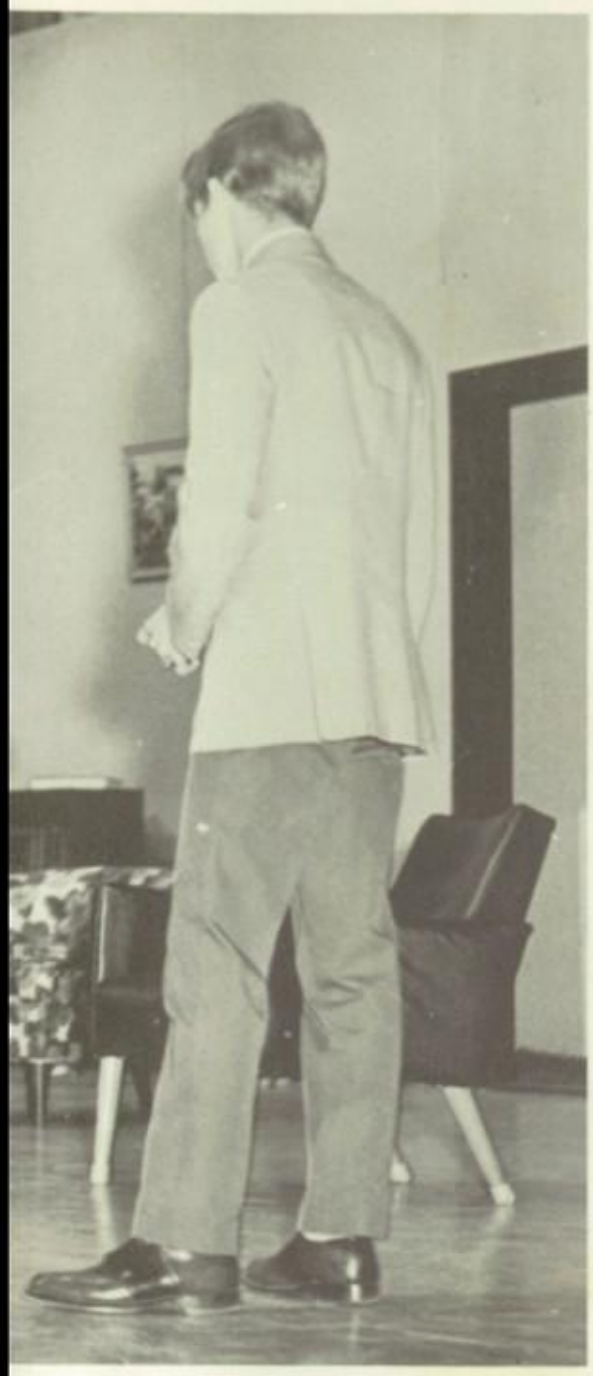
One of the most popular plays to be presented by the Drama Club was the 1969 production, "The Perfect Idiot." Two rollicking performances were given.



Comedy situations resulted from activities of high school students who were trying to get their star athlete eligible for a conference track meet.

Billy King portrayed the boy genius who was persuaded to tutor the thick-headed athlete, Daniel Boquet. His use of an electronic teaching device precipitated hilarious action.

Noisy, action-filled scenes dominate Drama Club play



Talented cast insures play's success

In the play, Kathy Fick, Courtney Roberts, Jackie Rodrigue, and Fred Tannehill were high school students. Pat Whitney and Bob Dean played Dan's parents. A confused soap manufacturer was portrayed by Gerald Melancon, and Stephen Ruiz had the role of a doctor.

Included in the cast were Frank Olivier, a principal; Sherrie Pate, a teacher, Edward Nixon, a policeman; Darlene Stokes, a maid; and Charlette Domangue, a reporter.

At the annual Gator Club Awards Banquet, 21 students received trophies in recognition of their scholastic or athletic accomplishments. Coach Cervini was presented the district basketball championship trophy.

Academic awards went to Joe Jeffery, D.E.; Miguel Milanes, foreign language; Ken Hutchinson, boys' P.E.; Paul Labat, publications; Connie Johnson, speech; Debbie Ventura, English; Octave Landry, math; Philip Bascle, art; Jerry Mills, vocal music; Jerome Chauvin, industrial arts; Kathleen Poiencot, girls' P.E.; Carey Eschete, science, commerce; Dar-

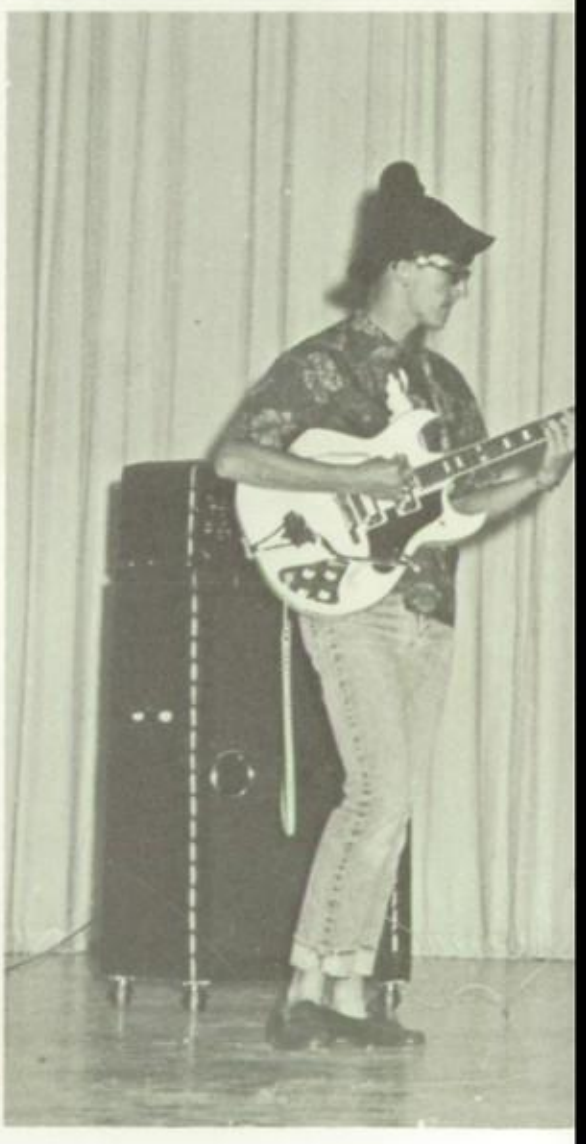
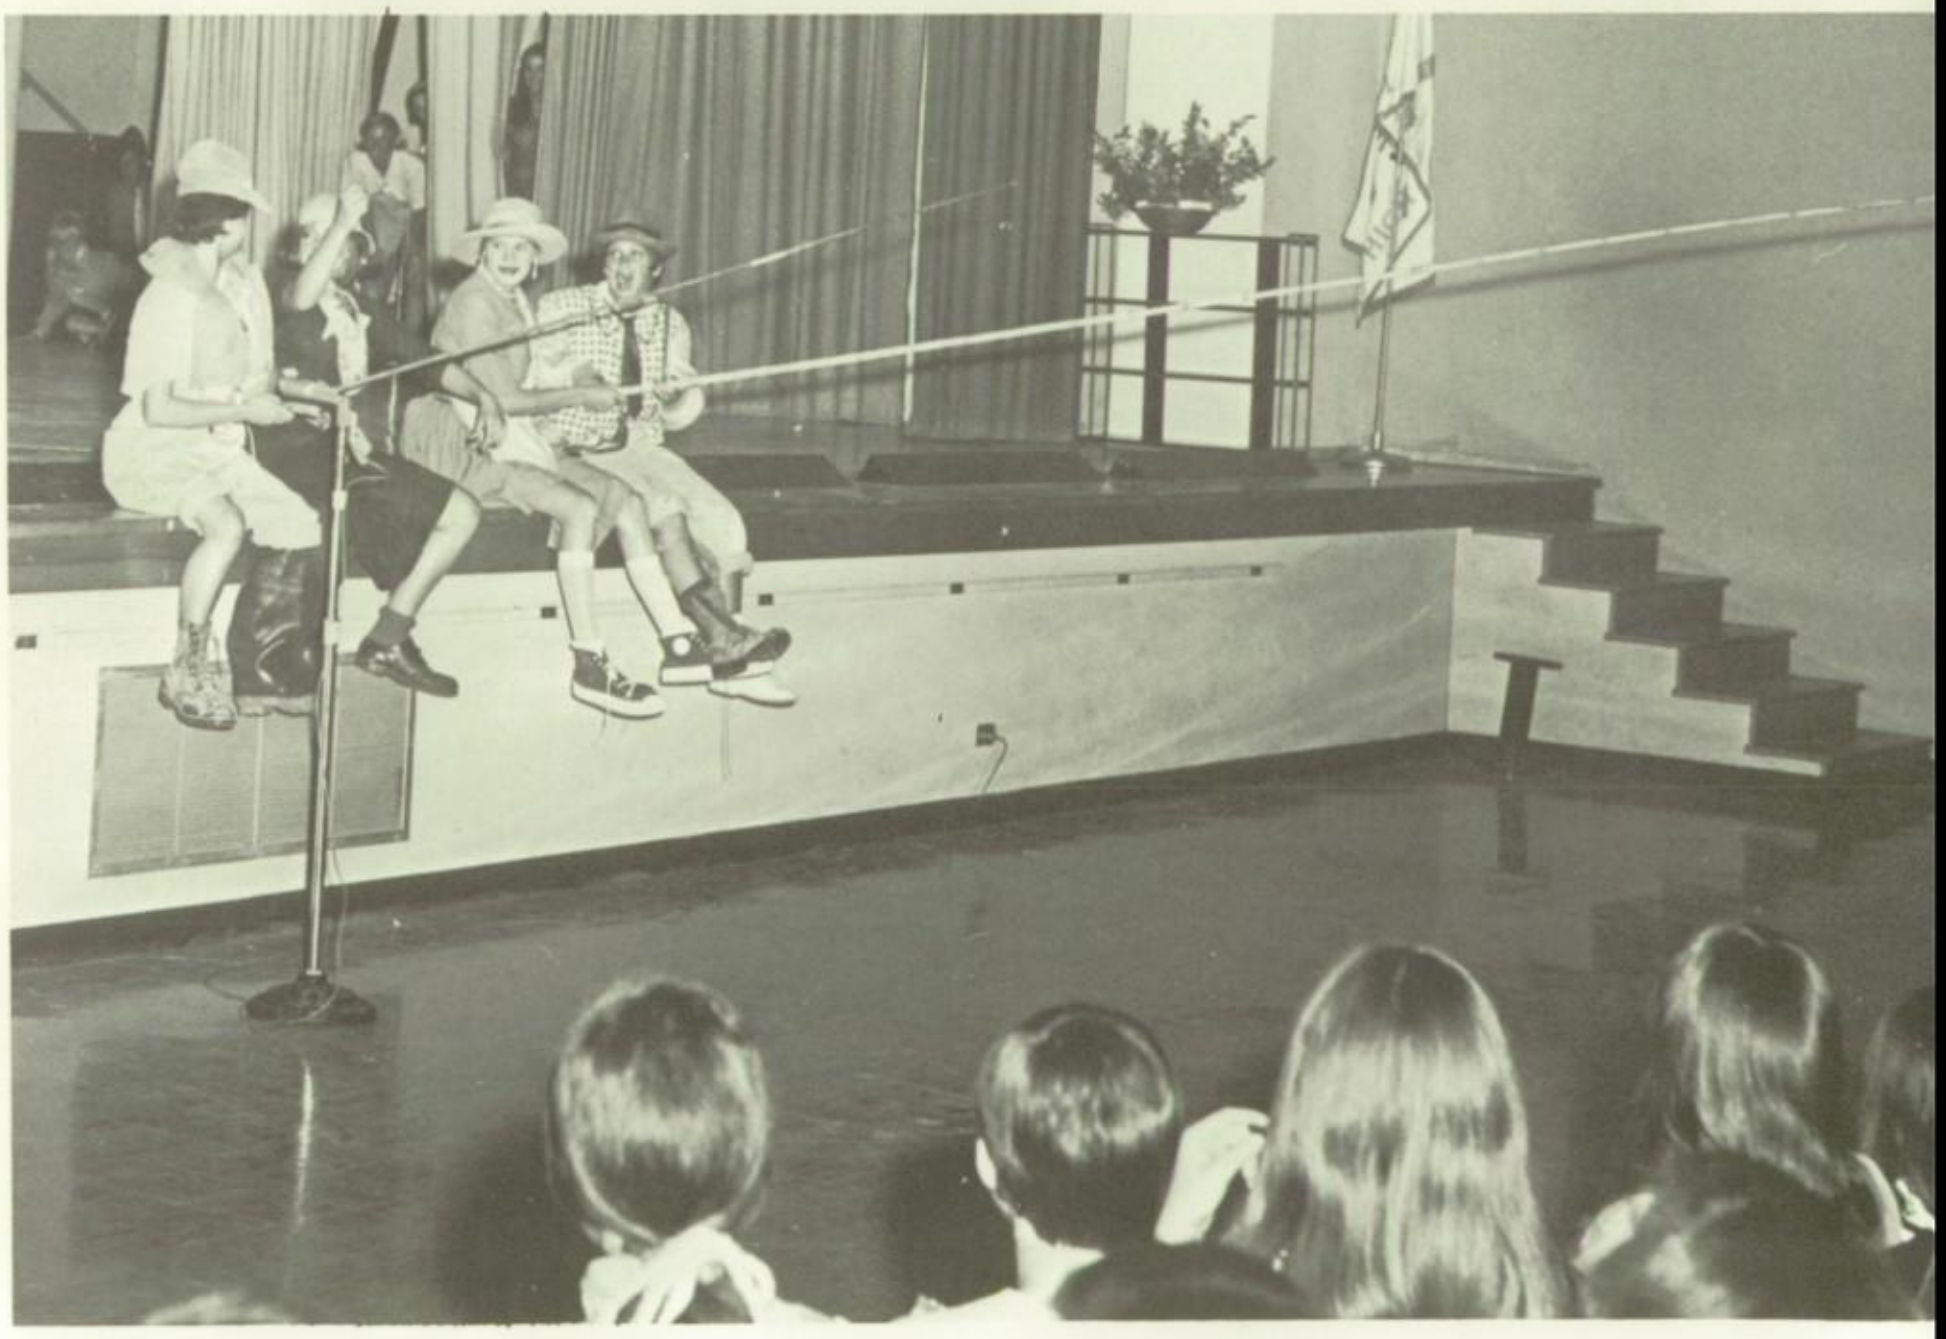
Most Valuable player athletic awards went to Blaine Vedros, track; Mike Hutchinson, lineman, Glenn Pellegrin, back; Ronald Johnson, basketball; Lynn Champagne, baseball. Blaine Vedros also won the J. Kenneth Walker award.



More than twenty acts were performed in the STHS auditorium during the successful Variety Show sponsored by the Student Council to raise money for several of its projects. Mr. Whipple, Student Council advisor, and Jules Boquet, student body president, served as masters of ceremonies.

Crowd attends Variety Show in auditorium



Variety acts include songs, dances, pantomimes

Acts taking part in the Variety Show included Sounds Unlimited, a hillbilly group, the Nairobi Trio Plus Ten, and the Soul Survivors.

Other acts featured the dancing Pom-Poms, Debbie Ventura's "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," and the Cajuns comedy group.

Songs were sung by Lynnette LeBoeuf, Doug Bartley, Bob Dean, and Cindy Pitre and Frank Millet. A duet was sung by "Ginny and Mona," and a trio pantomimed "There Is Nothing Like a Dame." Other pantomimes were presented by Courtney Roberts, Pat Yancey, and Jueles Boquet.

Tommy Gros read "Blind Date," and several boys acted out the poem "Casey at the Bat."

Juniors Charlette Domangue and Cheryl Hebert have Seniors and their guests sign the prom scrapbook.

Year's highlights recalled at prom

As the prom theme, "It Was a Very Good Year," indicated the year had been an exciting and eventful one for Seniors. At the prom, they were reminded of the highlights—and of some of the lesser moments. Hundreds of photographs were used as decorations, and during the entertainment portion of the program, Seniors were shown slides of typical school scenes. They also were entertained by a skit featuring Juniors imitating various Seniors.

Prom program includes entertainment, dancing

Highlights of the prom included picking up favors at the door, making frequent trips to the punch bowl, participating in the Grand March, and dancing, dancing, dancing.

It also included eating some of the Senior cake ceremoniously cut by class president Blaine Vedros, and just sitting around talking.

After the revolving Grand March had swirled into a dance, special dances were held with fathers and daughters, then mothers and sons, dancing together.

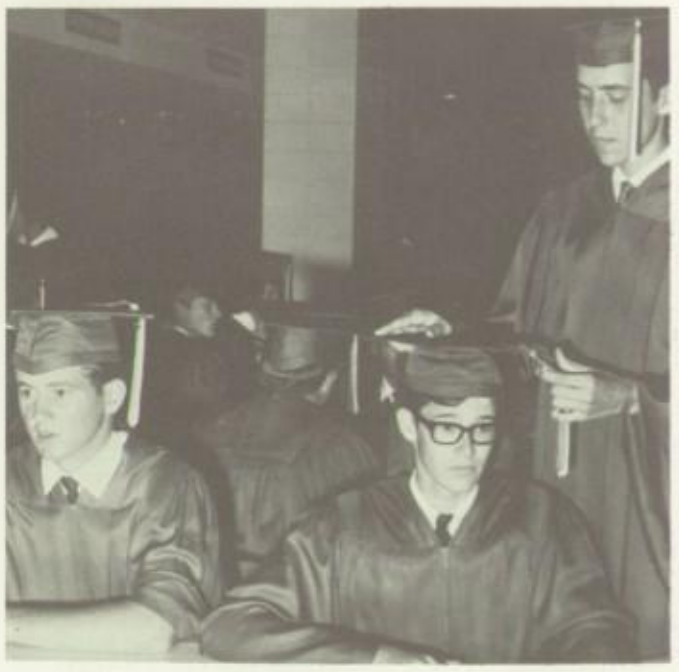
Seniors get nervous as graduation nears

With the commencement exercises just a few minutes away, Seniors waited nervously in the cafeteria for their big moment to arrive. The final seconds were spent smoothing unruly hair, adjusting caps and gowns, and making sure that the tassel was on the left side. Soon, the sounds of "Pomp and Circumstance" were heard, and a few minutes later, the Seniors had filled the center section of the auditorium.



Legion gives awards to two Seniors

Having been selected by their classmates to receive the honor, Claudette Bergeron and John Bascle were presented the American Legion awards at graduation. Seniors who ranked highest scholastically were honored by being seated on the stage and getting their diplomas first. After receiving diplomas, all Seniors joined in singing the Alma Mater.

Diplomas presented as parents applaud

Following an address by School Board President Charles Badeau, Principal Daniel Landry awarded diplomas the Seniors were called to the stage by Vice-principal Ben Arsena. After returning to their seats for the benediction, Seniors hurried out—first to the cafeteria to discard their caps and gowns, then off to the celebrations.

Council hears speaker propose creation of school safety group

Among new projects considered by the Student Council was formation of an STHS Safety Council. Also considered and eventually instituted was a "Slave Day" when members "sold" themselves to raise funds. Other council projects included a sweater sale, operation of the snack shop, decoration of the school for Christmas, and continued support of Do Thi Lem, thirteen-year-old Korean orphan.

Museum Club constructs displays; acquires "pets"

Caring for their two newly-acquired, seven-foot boa constrictors was an important project of the Museum Club this year. Another project was construction of a miniature football game featuring "bugs" as players, coaches, cheerleaders, band, drill squad, and spectators. The Museum Club also helped create in the library a giant wildlife diorama depicting a South Louisiana marsh.

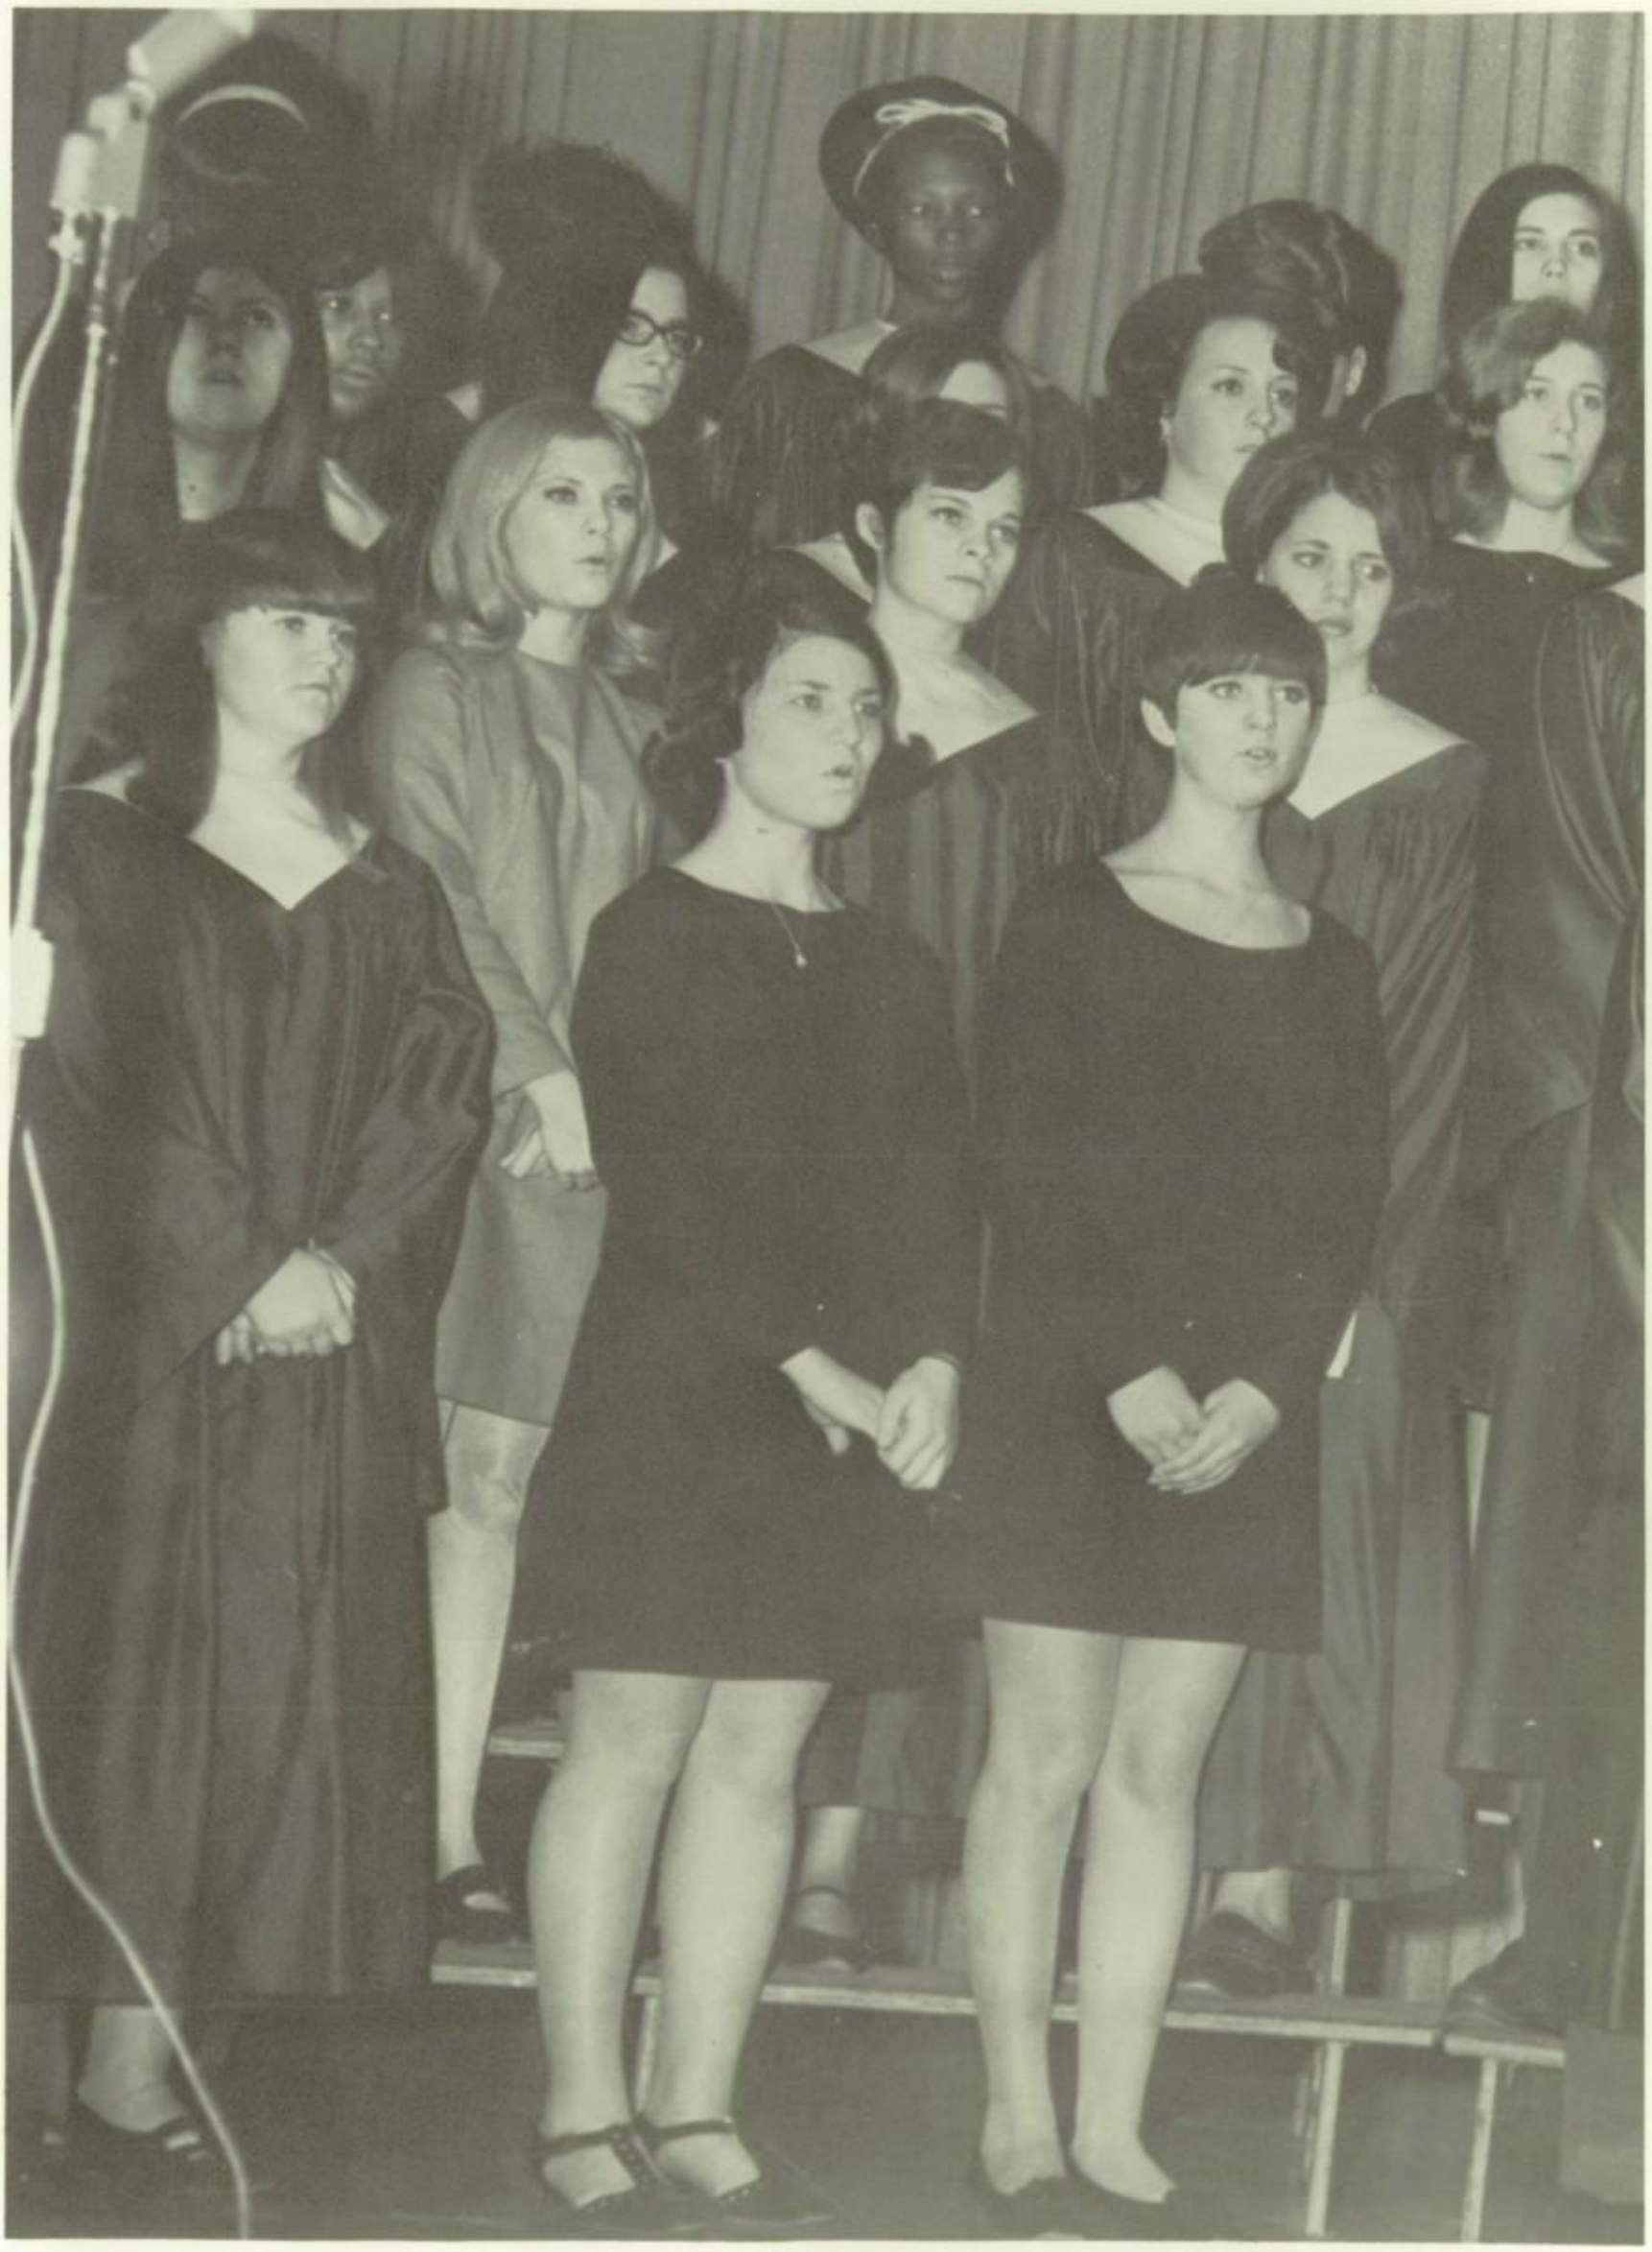
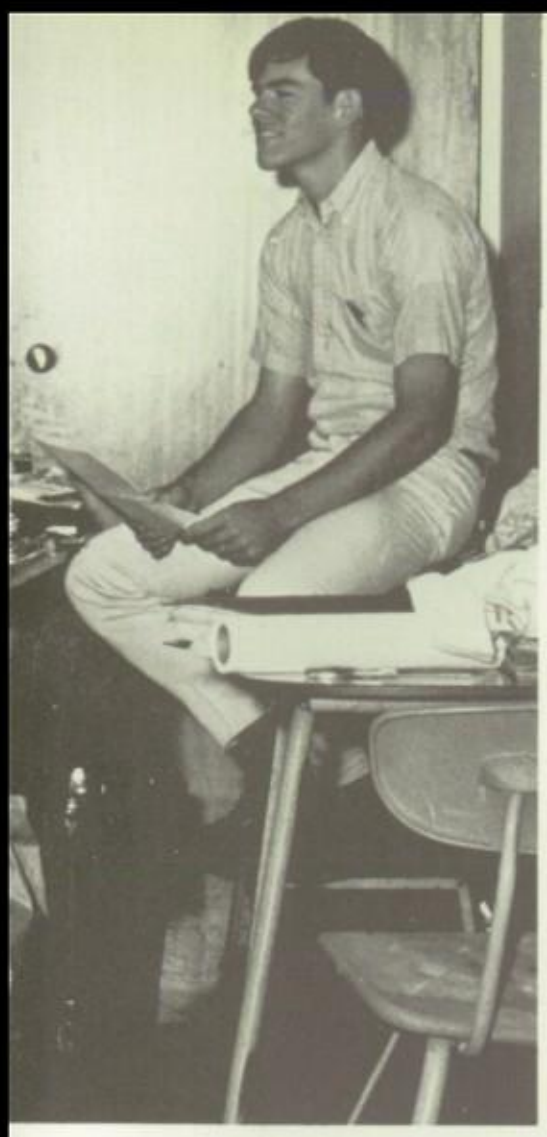
Choir entertains at numerous events



All-district honors were won by ten STHS choir students, and two vocalists, Jerry Mills and Peter Malbrough, were named to the all-state choir. Besides participating in festivals, the various choral groups also provided entertainment at assemblies, special programs, and concerts.

Spanish Club decorates truck, plans field trip

Decorating a truck for the Homecoming parade and planning a tour of New Orleans highlighted the activities of the Spanish Club. A riverboat cruise, dinner at a Mexican restaurant, a movie, and a visit to the International Trade Mart were some of the items members placed on their itinerary.



FHA has busy year

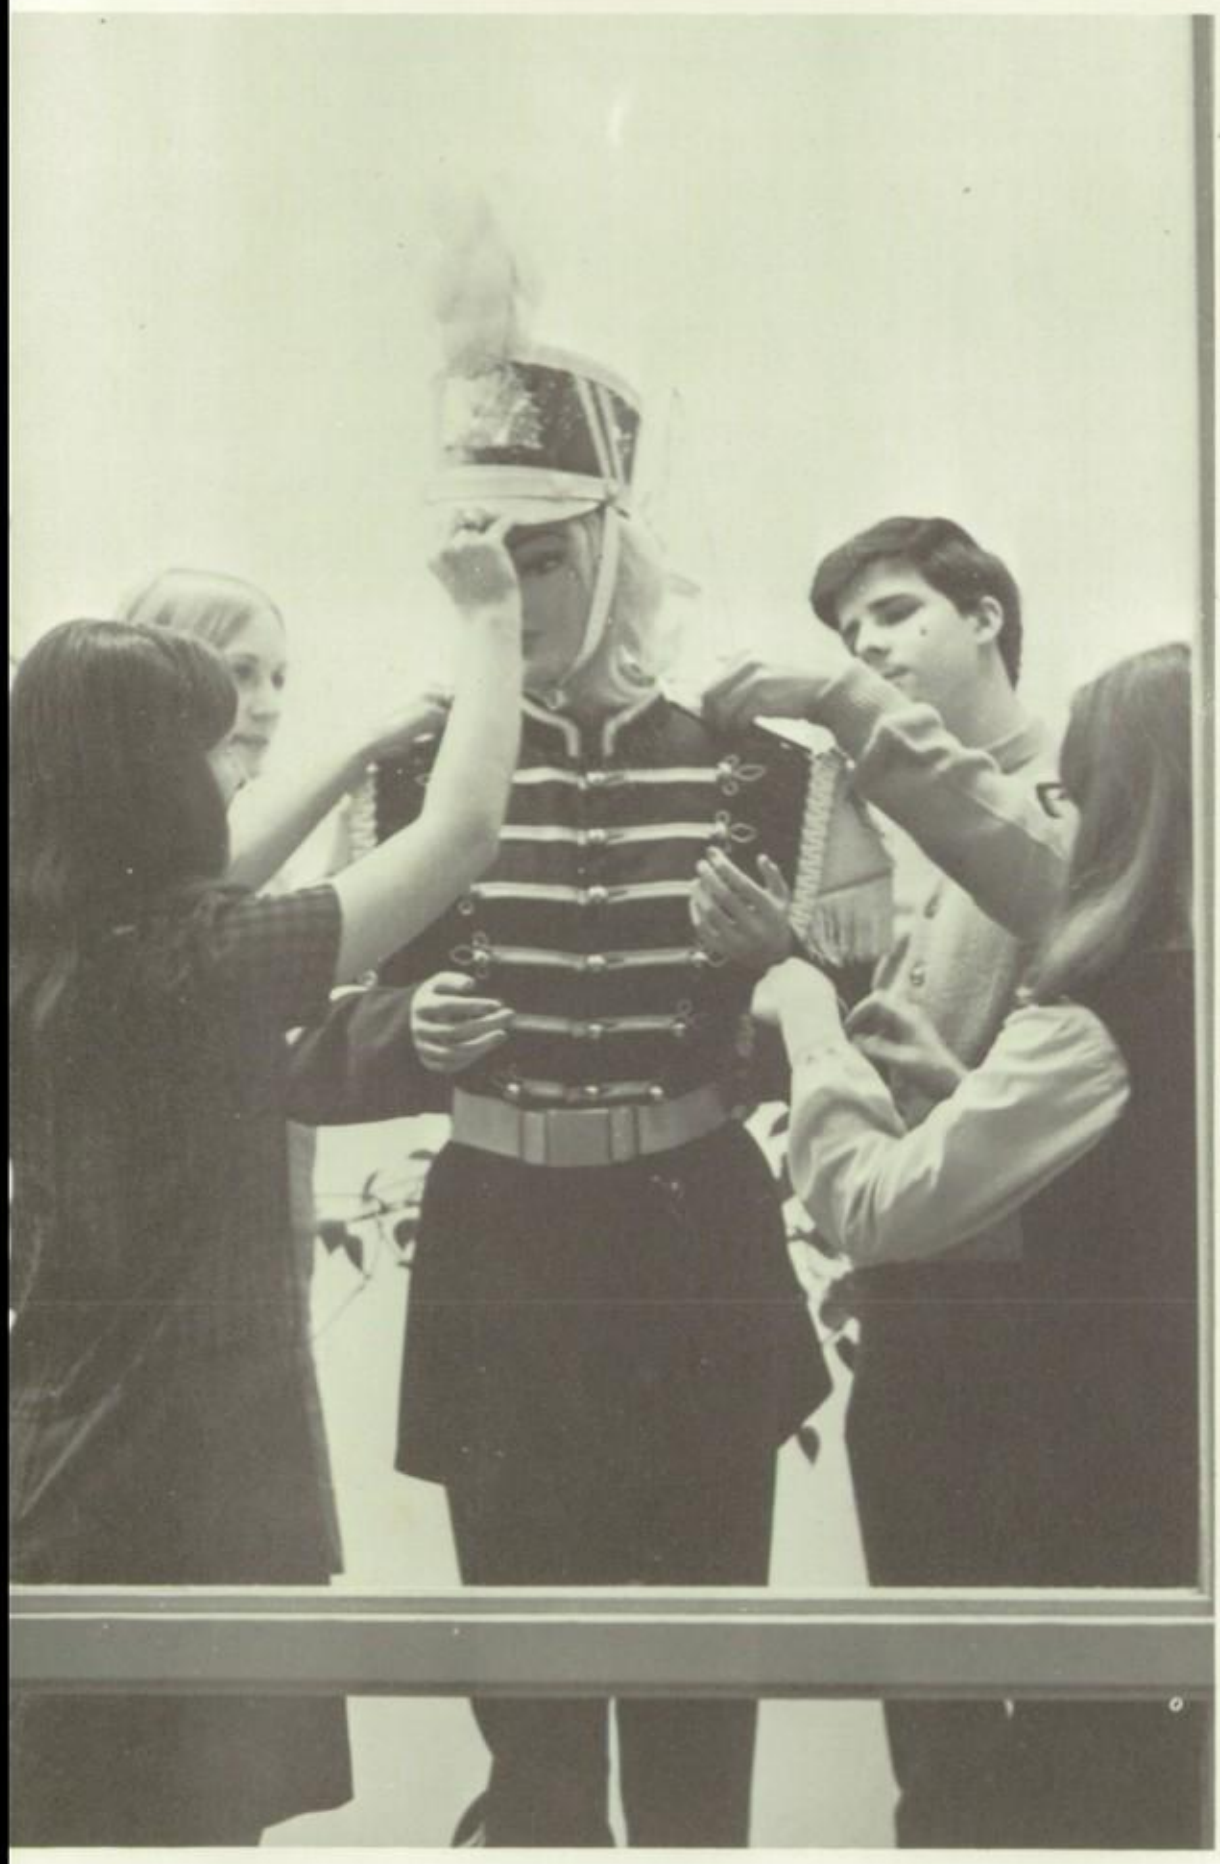
During the year, FHA members saw a demonstration on the use of cosmetics, helped elect one of their group district historian, chose FHA Girls of the Month, and visited New Orleans.

For the club's Christmas project, members gave small gifts to children at the MacDonald Center.

Paramedics attend Career Day at hospital

Career Day at Hotel Dieu hospital in New Orleans was attended by Mrs. Best, Paramedica Club sponsor, and thirty members. At Hotel Dieu, club members talked with students in training there and listened to speakers who discussed medical careers with them. The group also visited the nursing school and the students' living quarters.

At their regular meetings, the club also had guest speakers to talk to members about careers in medicine.



FTA celebrates education week

Teacher Appreciation Week was a busy time for the FTA. On Tuesday, a sweet sale was held. Wednesday, the faculty was served coffee and doughnuts. All teachers were given apples Thursday. On Friday, members decorated the dining hall and served cake to the faculty.

Later, the club also conducted a book sale and attended the district and state conventions.

G-Club helps needy families at Christmas

G-Club members continued their annal practice of collecting food and preparing Christmas baskets for needy families. They also held their annual picnic at Air Base. At the picnic, new members from football, basketball, baseball, and track were initiated into the club.

Chess Club holds tourney

Under the direction of their sponsor, Mr. Spahr, Chess Club members drew up brackets and staged a school-wide tournament this year. The group also stimulated interest in chess by promoting before-school and lunch-hour games.

Gatorettes help generate school spirit

Marching in parades, presenting dance routines at football and basketball games, and forming the core of the STH cheering section at all athletic events were among the more prominent activities of the Gatorettes. Less spectacular but no less important were the hours spent practicing routines, selling programs at games, and performing numerous other school services. Mrs. Alma Richard and Mrs. Marie Baudoin sponsored the drill squad.

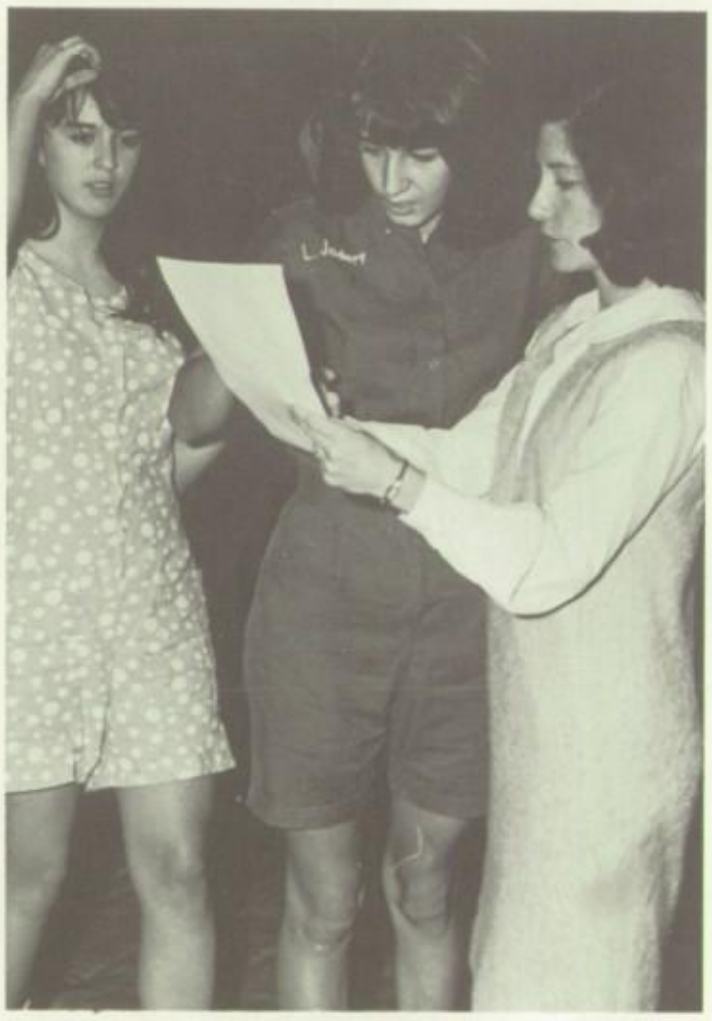
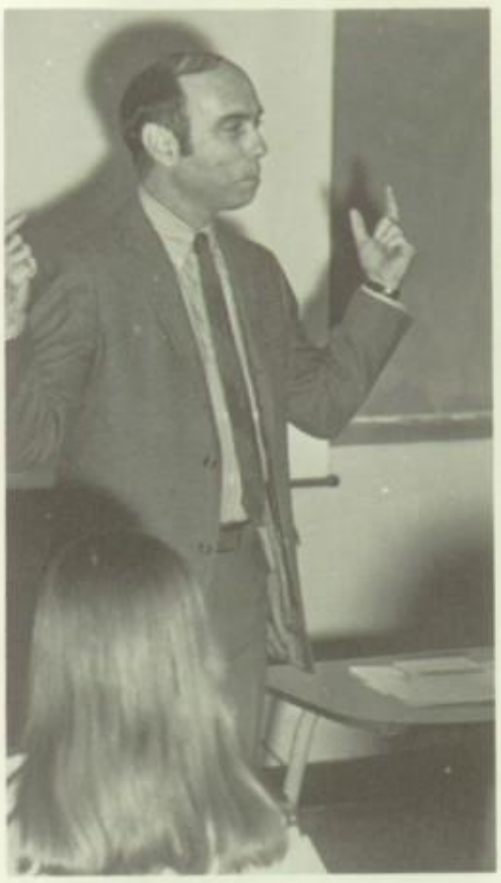
Staging the gigantic tableau at Mardi Gras was the principal activity of the Carnival Club. In the production containing a cast of more than 200, the tableau featured entertainment by masked revelers in numbers choreographed by the students themselves. The acts ranging from harem dancers to hobos and from tumblers to waltzers. Students also designed their own costumes for the masquerade ball.



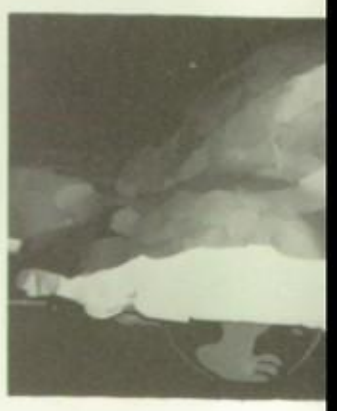
27 new members tapped, inducted by Honor Society

Tapping and inducting 27 new members highlighted the formal activities of the National Honor Society. During the year, Dr. Max Quertermous and Mr. Mel Berry, both of Nicholls State College, were featured speakers at Honor Society meetings. The group also continued operation of the book store and of the STHS News Bureau which supplies school news to the local paper.

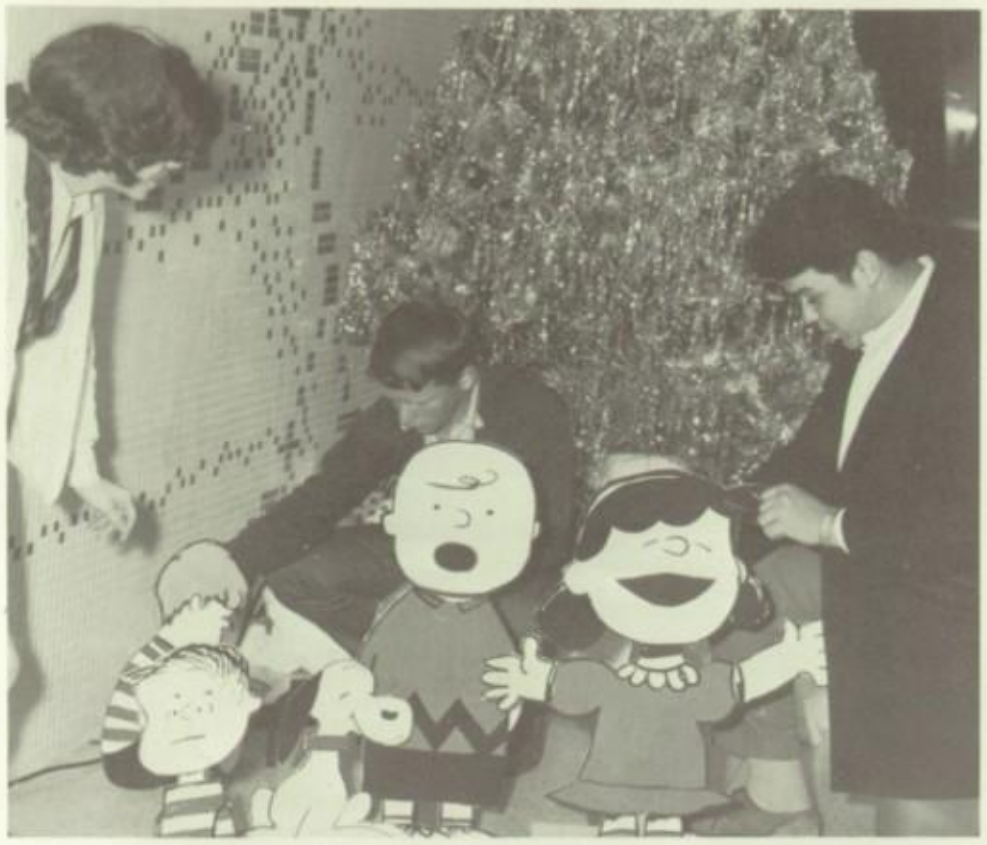


4-H members learn skills, help needy

Besides preparing Christmas baskets for needy families, 4-H Club members learned new skills and crafts. They also won many awards for their projects in parish competition.



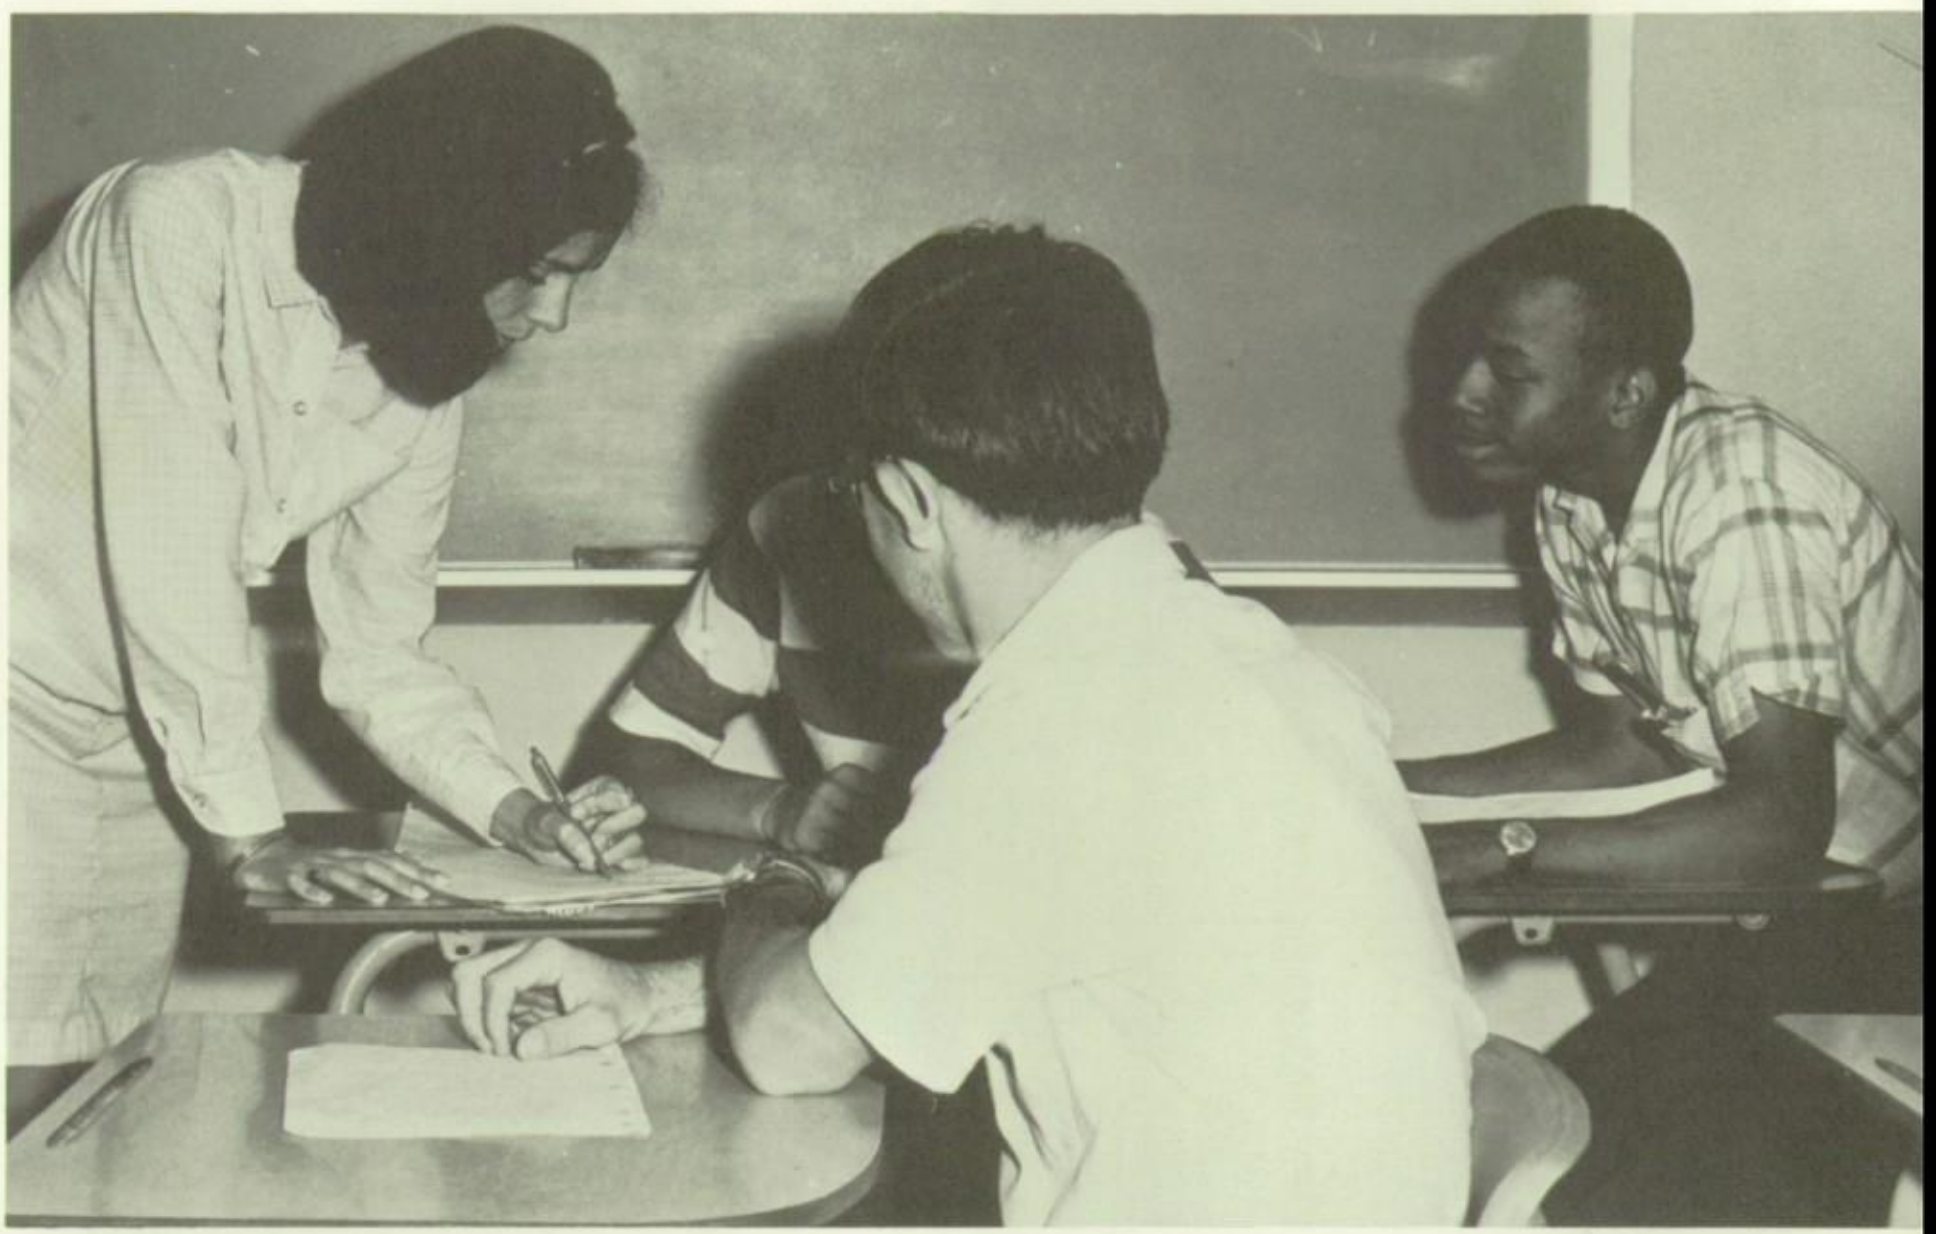
Art students have busy, eventful year



Art Club activities ranged from a scavenger hunt to an art show complete with first, second, and third place ribbons. Club members also visited a New Orleans museum and worked on sets and decorations for all major events of the year. They also decorated a car for the Homecoming parade and worked with the Museum Club on a wildlife diorama.

Community service projects keep Junior Red Cross busy

Carrying out projects to help those in need were the principal activities of the Junior Red Cross. Members gave Halloween and Easter parties for children in special education classes, prepared Christmas baskets for needy families, and took Santa Claus (with toys and candy) on a visit to the Pediatrics Ward of Terrebonne General Hospital. The group also visited Sako Nursing Home, taking candy in containers decorated by members.



Drama Club stages hilarious 3-act play

Production of a three-act play provided Drama Club members with experience in acting and directing. Billy King and Jackie Rodrigue played the leads. Pat Yancey was student director. The club also went to see a play in New Orleans.

FBLA members collected canned goods and other foods for the baskets they distributed to needy families in the community at Christmastime.

FBLA serves community; aids career preparation

During the year, FBLA members prepared Christmas baskets for needy families, had guest speakers from the business community at their meetings, and went on a field trip to a local business office. Four members also attended the state convention in New Orleans.

Gators overwhelm cross-town rivals for third time

High point of a rather dismal football season came when an underdog Gator squad rose up and smashed the Terrebonne High Tigers for the third straight year.

Sophomore Leroy Simmons, who had played in only one other game, turned in a sensational performance. He scored all three STHS touchdowns in the 20-14 victory, breaking loose for runs of 65, 80, and 22 yards.

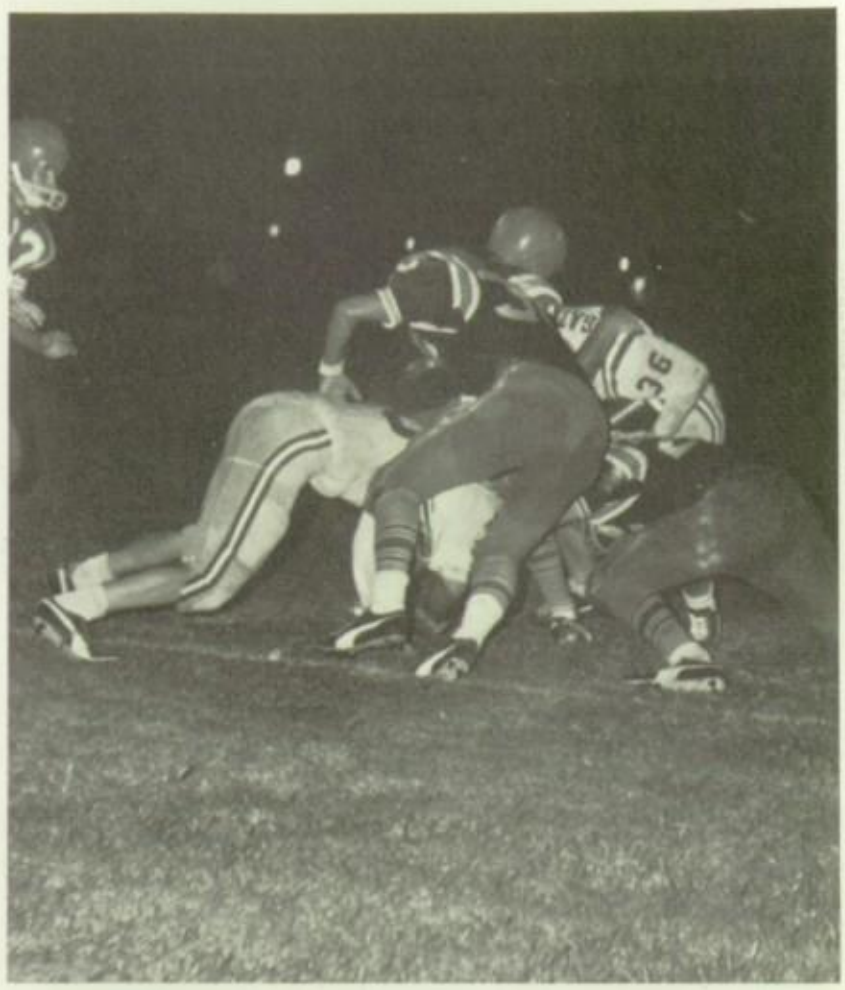
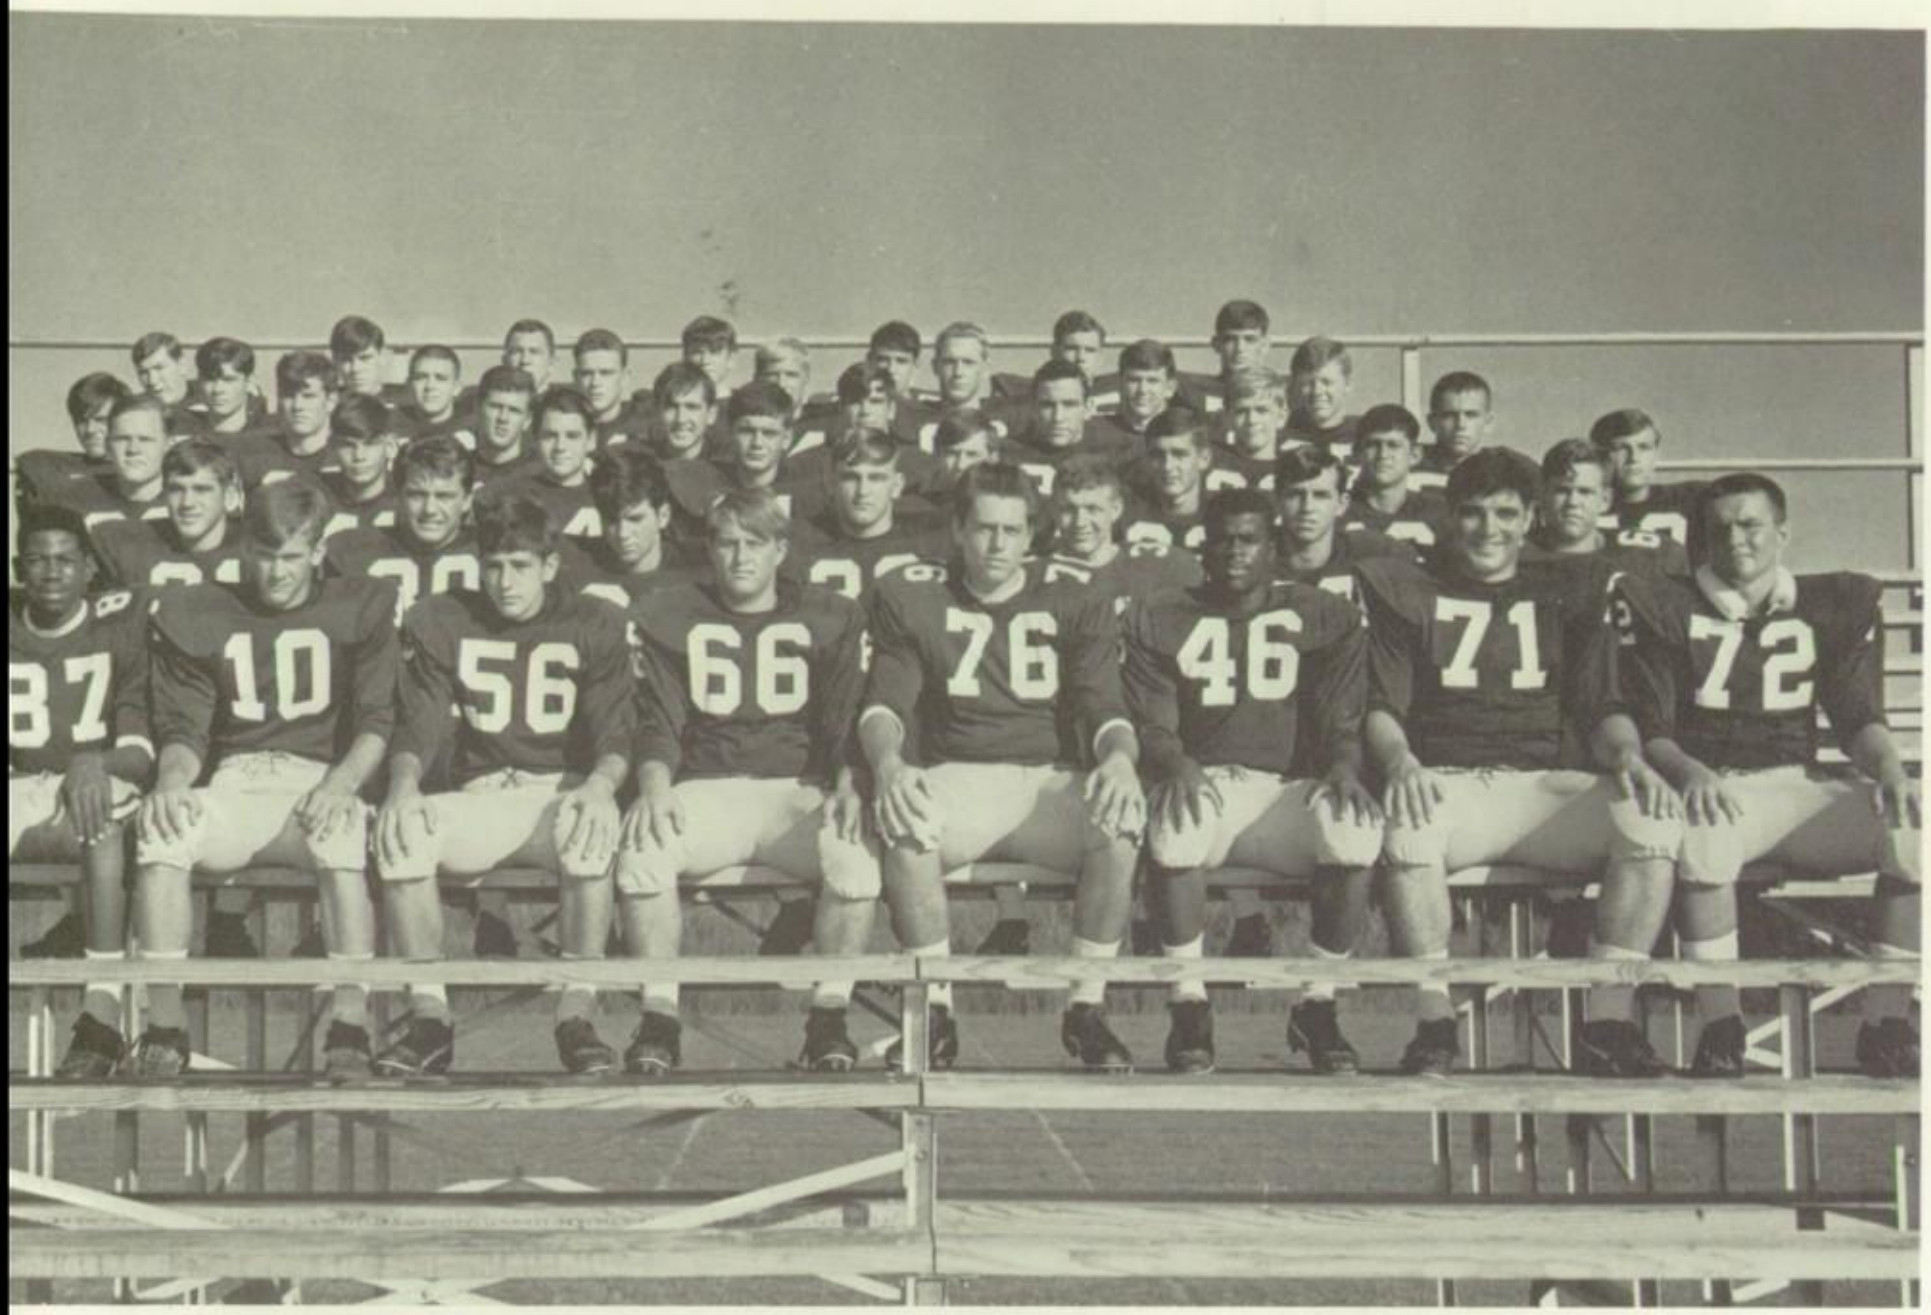
Heartbreaking defeats mar Gator record





Throughout most of the season, the ball never seemed to bounce right for the Gators, except on one or two occasions. In the early games, the Gators had trouble getting their offense cranked up, but they finally got rolling and scored nine touchdowns in the final two games.

South Terrebonne's basketball team continued its domination of district squads by once again capturing the District 6-AAA championship. Enroute to the title, the Gators compiled a 24-7 record.

A tower of strength on defense and a consistent scorer, Ronald Johnson, a 6'4" junior, averaged 20.5 points per game to lead the district. At the end of the season, he was named to the All-State squad. Both Johnson and Theodore Brunet were placed on the All-District team.

Other members of the "first five" were Rodney Martin, Chris Schouest, and Ray Naquin.

Team spirit, determination lead to district title

Fielding a good team, a tradition at South Terrebonne, is something which Head Basketball Coach Hall Cervini and Assistant David Neal work hard year-round to accomplish. This year, hard work plus team desire brought STHS the district championship and proved wrong the area sportswriters who had predicted a third place finish for the Gators.

Gators put together long winning streak

Near the end of the season, the STHS juggernaut really got rolling. The Gators won 19 of their last 20 regular season games, including 16 in a row.

Having more bench strength than in former years, Coach Cervini used his reserves freely, providing much-needed experience for next year.

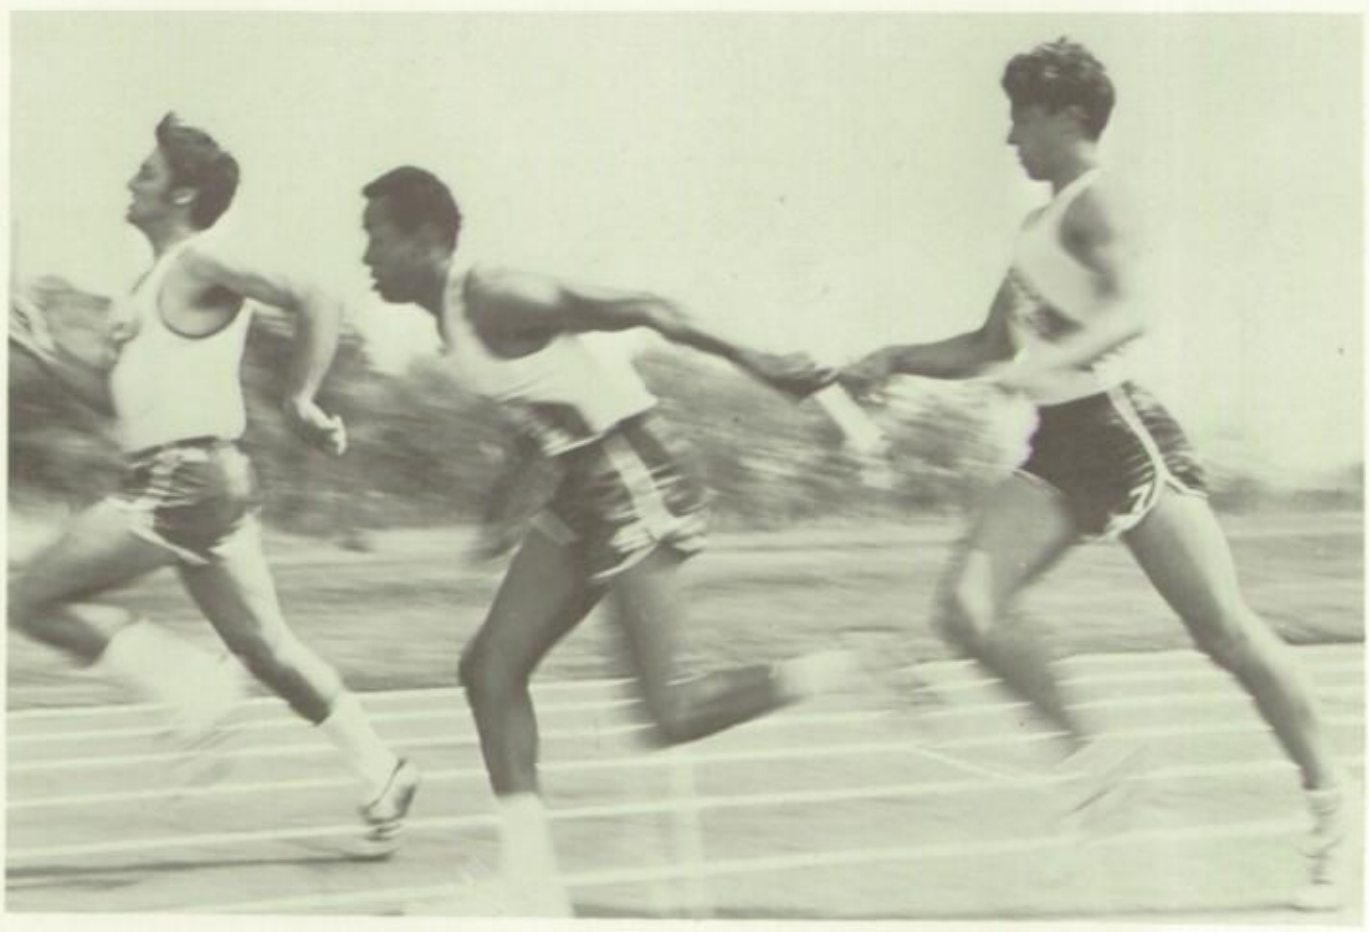
Trackmen show big improvement

South Terrebonne's track team which new Head Coach Jackson Brumfield began working with in January was a young, inexperienced group. The inexperience showed in the first two meets as the Gators finished last in each. In fact, in the first meet, the Gators didn't even place in any of the running events. The team improved, however, as the season progressed, making creditable showings in each of the subsequent meets.

By the end of the season, the improved Gators were able to make a strong showing in the district track meet and take home the second-place trophy.

Record-breaking efforts earn "Most Valuable" track award

Blaine Vedros proved to be the school's top trackman for the year. Enroute to winning the "Most Valuable" award, he picked up 90 points in meets and broke several records along the way. In the Bat Gourrier Relays in Baton Rouge, he was voted the Most Outstanding Fieldman in the meet, placing first in both the high and low hurdles and third in the triple jump.



Harriers win second at district

Led by Blaine Vedro's record-breaking performance in the 180-yard low hurdles, Gator trackmen placed second in the district meet. Another first, in the 440, was won by Charlie Bergeron. The Gator JV's won first in district, more than doubling the point total of their nearest rival.

Baseball team puts together winning record

Under the direction of Coach Buddy Marcello, the South Terrebonne baseball team compiled a fine, 13-5 record and finished third in the race for the district championship. Bogalusa, the league's eventual champs, narrowly edged the Gators twice, 1-0 and 2-1. One unusual feature of the season was the tie-game the Gators played with Vandebilt. That tilt was halted at the end of the eighth inning because of the cold weather.

VISITORS

Gator strength was pitching, defense

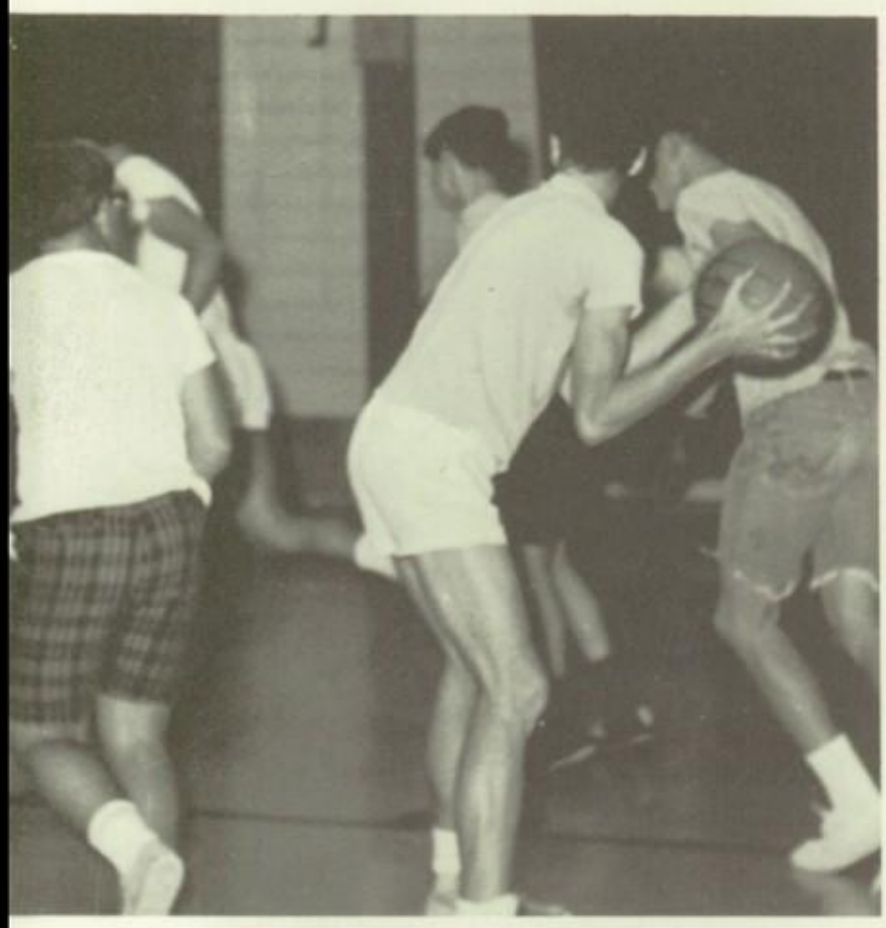
Led by pitchers Chris Schouest who had a 6-0 record and Lynn Champagne who was outstanding even in defeat, the Gators proved strongest in pitching and defense. The squad, above, included: (sitting) Carl Tregle, Andy Chilek, Ronald Toussaint, Gary Lirette, Ken Gard, Terry Champagne, Greg Porche; (kneeling) Leroy Simmons, Paul Matherne, Richard Bowman, Ed South, Ted Duplantis, Timmy Cenac, Kenny Fazzio; (standing) Tommy Manor, Connie Boudreaux, Lynn Champagne, Chris Schouest, Leo Harp, Blaine Vedros.

Students learn variety of skills in physical education courses

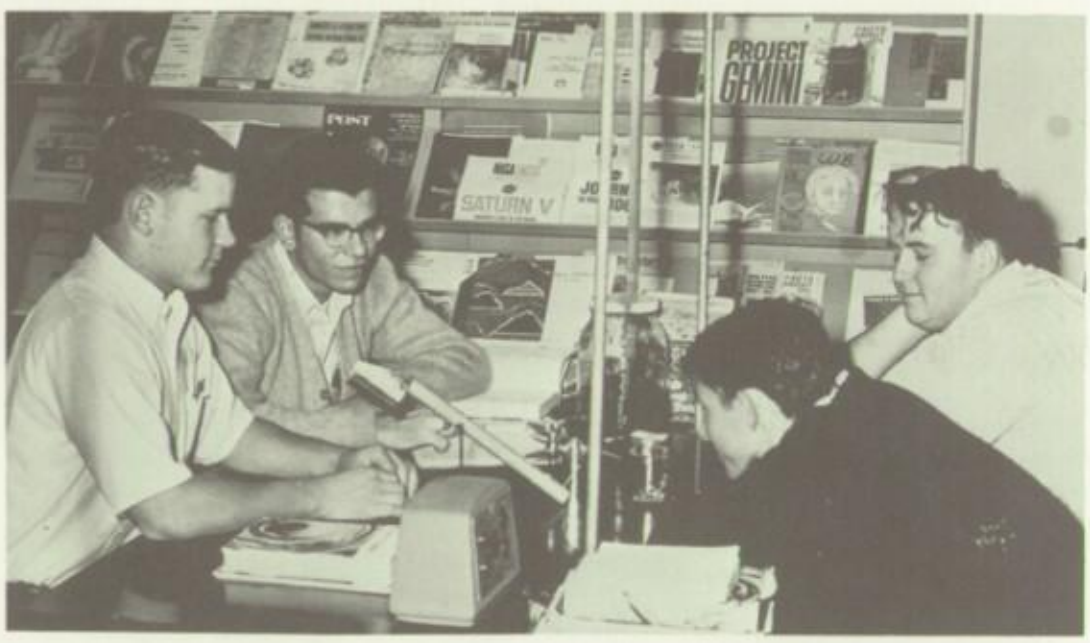
Both boys' and girls' physical education classes are designed to help students develop skills necessary for participation in different sports and habits necessary for keeping physically fit.

Many of the girls' P.E. class activities are used to improve coordination. Instruction both in individual and in team sports are provided. Archery, softball, tennis, volleyball, and football keep the girls active throughout the year.

For boys, sports emphasizing individual effort such as golf and weightlifting are provided. Also, team sports such as baseball, basketball, volleyball, and football in which boys learn to work together, are included in the program.



Classes



With graduation—the goal of twelve years of hard work—in sight, Seniors were careful not to neglect their classwork as they were swept up in a whirl of final-year activities.

A number of Seniors participated in the literary rallies, with several winning medals. Two Senior vocalists rated superior with their solos at the state rally, and both were named to the all-state choir.

The lead roles in the school play, "The Perfect Idiot," were played by two Seniors, and several others had supporting roles. Another Senior played the lead in "Golden Fleecing," a local Little Theater production.

Other Seniors reigned over Homecoming, the Sweetheart pageant, and the Carnival tableau. And all Seniors were spotlighted on such big occasions as ring day, the prom, and graduation.

Juniors, above, oversee the signing of the prom scrapbook.

An energetic group, the Juniors were outstanding in many activities. Their Homecoming float won first place. Class members, after sponsoring a successful Carnival dance, honored the 1969 Seniors by producing a memorable prom. The five-member Sweetheart Court contained four Juniors.

Many top rally winners were eleventh graders. First place winners included David Rumbelow, civics; Connie Johnson, English III; Miguel Milanes, French I; David Autin, general history; Pam Rogers, Home Economics I; and Allen Thibodeaux, Spanish I. Winning second place were Suzanne Boudoin, Algebra I; and Merna Benoit, Home Economics III. Dell Griffin, extemporaneous speaking, and Ellen Cook, Spanish II, placed third.

In state contests, third prizes were awarded to Courtney Roberts for her "Ability Counts" essay and to Connie Johnson and Dell Griffin in oratorical competition. Pam Thibodaux and Cathy Whipple won 4-H awards.

Providing class leadership were Steve LaRussa, president; Glenn Pellegrin, vice-president; Tillie Forest, secretary; and Anita Gravois, treasurer.

Taking tuberculin tests, standing in cafeteria

Although many STHS activities were at first new and strange to the Sophomores, the tenth-graders soon felt at home as the daily routine became familiar to them. During the year, along with the rest of the student body, they elected class officers and Student Council representatives, built a float for the Homecoming parade, voted for Youth Government Day officials, and received awards on the last day of school. They also performed on Gator athletic teams, played in the band, sang in the choir, and were active in various school clubs and organizations. The Sophomores also had projects that were exclusively their own. One such activity was a project undertaken by the Sophomore boys under the direction of Mr. Whitney Boudreaux. The students, voluntarily giving up their lunch hours, worked on surrounding the gymnasium with flower beds.
